COAST HIT BY SNOW AND GALE

Shipping Driven to Cover; Flood Tides on Waterfront; Clear Tonight

An easterly gale, which at times approached a velocity of sixty miles an hour, accompanied by extremely high tides and snow flurries, lashed the New England coast today and caused considerable damage.

Dories and other small boats were swept from their moorings, cellars were flooded and the road between Squantum and Atlantic was submerged by the tide.

The storm was general throughout New England, bringing the first real snow of the season, which in some of the suburbs caused the sounding of the no-school signal.

Following a night of rain and wind, the snow began falling about seven o'clock today. Heavy, sleeting snow, driven in the faces of early commuters, lasted only about half an hour. Later it was resumed off and on in combination with rain.

Meantime, the wind along the coast averaged fifty-two miles at Nantucket, but attained greater velocity at times.

Shipping scurried to cover, but not before several craft had suffered damage. The Shipping Board's steamship Lake Delancy had a narrow escape from disaster on Nix's Mate sandbar in the lower harbor early today when her steering gear failed. By quick work with the engines the vessel was backed off and brought to anchor.

A two-masted barge dragged her moorings and went ashore on Long Island at high tide. By low water she was high and dry.

In front of the Winthrop Yacht Club a thirty-foot sloop broke its moorings and ran onto the beach, being badly damaged. A similar accident happened to the power boat Emma at Squantum.

According to the weather bureau, clearing weather is expected tonight, the official forecast being:

"Fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight, with diminishing northwest winds."

Snow is falling heavily in Vermont and New Hampshire, six inches having been recorded in both States. In Maine the snowfall was between one and two inches.

The lowest temperature in New England at 8 o'clock today was 28, at Greenville, Me., and the highest 59, at Nantucket. At the same time Boston had an official mark of 36.

TOWN OF ALFORD GOES TO G. O. P. FOR FIRST TIME

Alford, Nov. 5.—"Law and Order" struck here, too. This little Berkshire town went Republican for the first time.

Governor Coolidge received 34 votes to 12 for Mr. Long. Last year: Long, 26; Coolidge, 17.

Lieutenant-Governor Cox received 28 votes, Colonel Herbert, 20, a year ago Cox lost to O'Neil, 25 to 17.

The town maintained something of Democratic aspect by giving Wood 25 to Burrell's 19 in the State treasurer contest.

Schools of Three Towns Closed by Snow

The schools in Lexington, Bedford and Arlington were closed today because of a snowstorm. The storm was quite severe shortly before the time for the opening of the schools, and the bell notification of no session was sounded.

FIRST SESSION OF LEAGUE TO BE IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The first meeting of the League of Nations will be held in Paris instead of Washington, it was decided today by the Supreme Council.

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The German peace treaty will be disposed of not later than November 15, Senator Watson of Indiana, and other Republican leaders of the Senate confidentially predicted today, following a series of conferences between them and Will H. Hays, the Republican national chairman.

Hays also expressed himself as "feeling sure" that a settlement of the long disputed question of ratification was at last in sight.

"The Republican party and Republican Senators have stood steadfastly for ratification with reservations," Hays added.

"The country may rest assured that the Senate's acceptance of the treaty will be coupled with adequate safeguards of American sovereignty."

WOMEN 'PEPPER' SHERIFF

Steel Strike Rioters in Youngstown Defy Officers to Shoot Them

By International News Service.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 5.—Twenty-eight arrests were made here today when fifty women pickets threw a mixture of cayenne pepper, red pepper, salt and mustard into the eyes of Sheriff Morris and his deputies as they attempted to break up a gathering of strike sympathizers at the Poland avenue entrance of the Youngstown sheet and tube plant.

The women charged the deputies with various missiles and challenged the officers to shoot.

"Shoot if you dare," and "You can't stop us, we are American-born women

PERSHING URGES 5 NEW LIEUTENANT GENERALS

Washington, Nov. 5.—General John J. Pershing today recommended the appointment of Major-Generals Liggett, Hullard, Dickman, McAndrew and Harbord as lieutenant generals, in his testimony before the joint committee of military affairs of Congress.

Democrats' Defeat Due to Bosses, Says Hearst

New York, Nov. 5.—In reply to a request from the Wall Street Journal last night for a statement on the result of the election, William Randolph Hearst said:

"Judge Newburger has been triumphantly elected. His rejection by the Democratic boss was the main issue of the campaign.

"The resentment aroused by Mr. Murphy's attempt to control the judiciary operated against the whole Democratic ticket and resulted in many Democrats being defeated in a city which is usually overwhelmingly Democratic.

"It is to be hoped that this rebuke will teach the bosses to keep their hands off the judiciary."

CRUSHING BLOW DELIVERED TO TAMMANY

New York, Nov. 5.—New York has risen in its full strength—more than 3,000,000 voters—and smitten Tammany and its "hand-picked judges." Boss Charles F. Murphy, hip and thigh.

Anti-Tammany citizens, wrathful over the bare-faced unfitness of Justice Joseph E. Newburger for renomination for the Supreme Court, reelected the latter by at least 50,000 plurality and elevated Mr. Murphy's young candidate, Irwin Untermyer, to fourth place in the returns.

Incidentally, the same independent voters, heeding the advice of the Hearst papers, administered a sharp rebuke to "Friend Al" Smith, the Governor, by beating his appointee to the Supreme Court bench, Robert L. Luce, and electing in his place Major Philip J. McCook, Republican, son of the famous "Fighting McCook" family.

A report current that Governor Smith intends to name Justice Luce to the Court of Appeals today. The Governor had a long private chat with Charles F. Murphy. The Judge to be named will sit as a successor to William I. Cuddeback of Buffalo, who died August 16.

Even in the great strength of Mayor Hylan, down to the support of Robert L. Bean for president of the Board of Aldermen, failed to save him. In the upheaval, his opponent, Major F. H. La Guardia, a Congress-

OVERSEAS VETERAN IS FOUND DEAD OF GAS

Raymond Hutchins, an overseas veteran of Wichita, Kan., was found dead this bed at No. 14 Eliot street today, a victim of gas poisoning. Hutchins had been a patient at the U. S. Public Service Hospital, East Norfolk, where he was being treated for wounds received in action. Last night he left his chum, Isidor Levine of No. 128 Devon street, apparently in the best of spirits. According to the promise made last night, Levine went to the room today and found his friend dead.

Protests Bail Fixed by Court in Auto Case as Too High

Former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell caused a stir in Roxbury Court today when he protested against what he termed excessive Bail levied by Judge Ahearn in the case of his client, Francis Campbell, who was arraigned with Leo M. Mliden. The men were charged with stealing an automobile, larceny of five automobile tires, and with having a loaded revolver in their possession at the time of the alleged thefts.

Judge Ahearn declare dthat, though the court waived jurisdiction on two of the charges, those of stealing an automobile and carrying a loaded revolver, he was impelled to find probable cause of the complaint of stealing the tires and believed $10,000 was sufficient to hold the men.

"I think $2,000 is sufficient bail," said O'Connell, as he proceeded to argue his point.

The fact that a revolver was in the possession of the men warrants me in protecting the community by imposing this amount of bail," said the court.

LARGE VOTE ON BANK INTEREST AMENDMENT

Late returns on the constitutional amendment relative to the savings departments of trust companies, increasingly indicate a large vote for the amendment.

The counties of Hampden, Hampshire, Berkshire and Franklin showed big pluralities in favor of the measure. The figures follow: Hampden, 17,176 to 7,269; Hampshire, 4,621 to 1,037; Franklin, 2,565 to 1,485; Berkshire, 8,671 to 2,702.

SEEK REDUCTION OF THEIR EXCISE TAXES

Representatives of the Northeastern Street Railway Company today asked the Public Service Commission to reduce the amounts which they now pay to towns and cities along their lines as excise tax. They claim that these sums, which are used for street repairs, are too large. The hearing was adjourned for one week to permit conferences with the officials of these towns and cities.

CHELSEA THIEF GETS LOOT WORTH $333

A false key worker looted the flat of Jacob Furman, No. 94 Arlington street, Chelsea, early today, and escaped with articles valued by the owner at $333.50, including a gold watch and chain, five lady's rings, two bracelets and gold and silverware.

VICTORY FOR LAW AND ORDER, SAYS PRESIDENT

Washington, Nov. 5.—President Wilson today sent a telegram of congratulations to Calvin Coolidge, re-elected Republican Governor of Massachusetts. President Wilson said in his message:

I congratulate you upon your election as a victory for law and order. When that is the issue all Americans stand together.

WOODROW WILSON

"I deeply appreciate your telegram of congratulations. I trust the election here will aid in the upholding of the laws of America in particular, and strengthen the hand of righteous authority everywhere.

Proponents of 4 per cent. beer scored an overwhelming victory at the polls in Massachusetts yesterday. In other States, noticeably New Jersey and New York, the opponents of prohibition also registered victories.

Boston returned an overwhelming plurality in favor of the manufacture and sale of the 4 per cent. beverages. Every ward voted for beer. The total vote was 60,118 in favor and 22,345 opposed.

The vote in Boston merely served to emphasize what a majority of the other cities and towns throughout the State were doing. Quincy, a prohibition hotbed during the last twenty-four years, returned a verdict in favor of beer. So, too, did Brookline, another place hallowed by the dry forces.

HARVEY FIGHTS SEATING OF BRADBURY

Charges Winthrop Opponent, Running on Stickers, Used a Misleading Designation

C. Joseph Harvey of Winthrop, Republican candidate for the Massachusetts House of Representatives, who was defeated by the present representative, Charles D. Bradbury, will enter a protest against the election of Bradbury, he declared today. Bradbury ran on stickers.

The two men were rival Republican candidates for the primaries, and Harvey defeated Bradbury for the nomination. On the stickers by which Bradbury won the election Tuesday, it is alleged that his name appeared as "Charles D. Bradbury, Republican."

Harvey's claim is that this use of the party name was illegal and tended to give the impression to voters that Bradbury was the regular Republican nominee. According to Harvey, Bradbury should have run as an "Independent." The ballot law commission will be asked to interpret the law under the constitution.

Feeling over the controversy ran high today in Winthrop.

WASHINGTON GOVERNOR USES TROOPS IN STRIKE

Olympia, Wash., Nov. 5.—Governor Hart has issued a proclamation calling on the Washington militia to hold itself in readiness for immediate duty in connection with the coal strike.

The Governor stated that he took it as his duty to protect the people from freezing. Five thousand coal miners are on strike in the State. It is understood that in case the strike should be decided illegal in the coming test at Indianapolis, or in case trouble should develop at the mines in Washington, the militia will be ordered to guard duty without more ado.

Augusta, Me., Nov. 5.—The House today by a vote of 72 to 48 ratified the suffrage amendment, in concurrence with the Senate.

RAILROADS GO BACK JANUARY 1, SAYS HINES

Washington, Nov. 5.—"The railroad administration is going ahead with its plans to turn the railroads back on Jan. 1," said Director-General Hines today. "There has been no qualification of the President's announced intention, and we expect it will be carried out."

OPPOSE SEPARATE DEPARTMENT OF AERONAUTICS

Washington, Nov. 5.—Opposition to the creation of a separate executive department of aeronautics was expressed in a reported submitted by a special board, created by Secretary of War Baker, presented this afternoon to the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

CHICAGO PUT ON COAL RATIONS TO DODGE FAMINE

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Chicago has been put on coal rations. No home, school, hospital or industrial plant can stock up with more than one week's supply.

The rationing was ordered by the regional committee of the fuel administration at the request of the retail dealers. It is hoped by means to avert a coal famine in Chicago during the strike.

DR. MELISH, POLITICAL RADICAL, TO SPEAK

"New Morals for Old Sins" is the subject of a talk to be given by Dr. John Howard Melish of New York at Ford Hall, Sunday evening. Dr. Melish is an Episcopal clergyman, and is known as a radical in politics. The lecture is under the auspices of the Ford Hall Folks, who will their November meeting at followed by an informal lecture will begin at

Rowin Common Society Over Plan to Slice All But Park Street

Intense bitterness broke out over the slicing of Boston Common at the hearing in City Hall today, when Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, a member of the Boston Common Society, charged his counsel, a fellow-member of the society, with having sold him out.

Dr. Briggs further charged that Myron E. Pierce, counsel of the society, who offered a compromise plan for slicing the Common, did not represent the sentiment of the society.

Mr. Pierce had previously sprung surprise when instead of opposing the plan to slice off parts of the Common on Park, Boylston and Tremont streets, he offered a compromise plan.

Dr. Briggs, after hearing Mr. Pierce's proposal, made his charge of being sold out by his counsel, who is not Mr. Pierce.

"This is an attempt of the vested interests," said Dr. Briggs, "to rob the people of their birthright in Boston Common and make more money out of it." He then left the hearing.

At the opening of the hearing, Mr. Pierce said that the society had agreed to a plan by which enough land might be taken on Tremont and Boylston street sides to widen those two streets to forty-three feet each. By his compromise, the Park street side would remain untouched. He said that the plan had been agreed upon after a conference with President

NORTH VERMONT BURIED IN SNOW; WIRES DOWN

St. Johnsbury, Vt., Nov. 5.—With nearly a foot of snow, Northeastern Vermont is in the throes of Winter today. The telephone service was interrupted throughout this whole section by fallen trees and broken wires. The power and lighting service of the local electric company was out of commission for two hours and automobiles have been stalled in various parts of the town.

FIND WELL-DRESSED MAN DEAD IN WATER

Salem, Nov. 5.—Much mystery attaches to the discovery today of the body of an unidentified and middle-aged man of distinguished appearance in the water off Salem Willows. The man had gray hair, was of stout build and wore good clothes, including a heavy gray overcoat and a gray suit.

flat one of the surrounding cities or towns returned a vote against beer. In almost every place where prohibition has long held away the same verdict was reported. Massachusetts firmly set herself on record as favoring self-determination at least insofar as the sale of mild alcoholic beverages is concerned.

Berkshire Senatorial voted for 4 per cent. beer by a majority of 2,702; Berkshire-Hampshire, Hampden district, showed a majority for beer of 616; Hampshire County, yes by 1,320; Hampden County, yes by 5,494; Hampden County, yes by 706; First Hampden Representative district, yes by 777; Third Hampden Representative district, yes by 1,516; Fourth Hampden Representative District yes by 2,524; Seventh Hampden Representative District, yes by 816; Eighth Hampden Representative District, yes by 1,125; Ninth Hampden Representative District, yes by 1,041; Tenth Hampden Representative District, 1,634; Twelfth Hampden Representative District, yes by 502; Second Hampshire Representative District, yes by 528; Fourth Hampden Representative District, yes by 363.

Second Franklin Representative district, yes by 602; Third Franklin Representative district, yes by 375; First Berkshire Representative district, yes by 1,122; Second Berkshire Representative district, yes by 241; Third Berkshire Representative district, yes by 521; Fourth Berkshire Representative district, yes by 1483.

Fifth Berkshire Representative district, yes by 2032; Fall River, yes by 4,115; First Middlesex Representative district, yes by 1,178; Second Middlesex district, yes by 2,211; Third Middlesex Representative district, yes by 1,837; Newburyport, yes by 700; Chelsea, yes by 1,863; Lawrence, yes by 4 to 1; Lynn, yes by 1,890; Newton, yes by 829.

"WETS" ARE JOYFUL.

The opponents of prohibition are jubilant at the election by a large majority of Congressman Reuben L. Haskell of Brooklyn, New York, to the bench of King's County Court. The election was in a nature of a test case, as the candidate ran on a direct "wet" issue, and was actively fought by the prohibition advocates and the Anti-Saloon League.

New Bedford voted for beer by a majority of 4,632 in the senatorial districts, in the representative districts by 4,422; Chelsea went yes by a majority of 1,171; Lowell, yes by a majority of 4,451; Quincy yes by 1,474; Taunton yes by 771, and Worcester yes by a three-to-one vote.

Returns of the voting on 4 per cent. beer are as follows in several Massachusetts towns: Randolph, yes 450, no 183; Norwood, yes 1,108, no 407; Sharon, yes 292, no 164, Stoughton, yes 768, no 274; Walpole, yes 836, no 130.

The Woburn vote showed a majority of 1,048 in favor of 4 per cent. beer. The vote was: Yes 1,797, no 749.

Other yes majorities follow: Dedham 608, Needham 196, Peabody 649, Ipswich 139, Salem 1,529, Peabody 1,082, Ipswich 28, Boston 47,774, Brookline 1,518.

Somerville went yes by 1,433; Clinton, 556; Lancaster, 21 and Lawrence, 2,162.

LAW AND ORDER 'SLOGAN.'

Following the landslide, the friends of Governor Calvin Coolidge today were preparing to launch a campaign for him for the Republican nomination for Vice-President of the United States.

"Law and order" will be the slogan in the white heat of enthusiasm some of the more ardent asserted that he should speak right out for the presidency itself, but it was said that wiser heads have ordained that the Governor will be the running mate of Governor Lowden or some other gentleman from the mid-West.

When the tired compromise girls quit work early this morning, Governor Coolidge was leading Mr. Richard H. Long by 124,873 votes.

The figures follow:

STATE VOTE FOR GOVERNOR.

Coolidge	378,168
Long	193,335
Coolidge's plurality	184,273
1918.
Coolidge	214,883
Long	197,928
Coolidge's plurality	17,955

It was about the biggest licking since 1896 when the late Roger Wolcott let George Fred Williams down with 154,542. The nearest approach to it was in 1917 when Samuel W. McCall topped F. W. Mansfield by 80,479.

Boston gave Long the scant lead of 5,149.

BOSTON.

For Governor.

1918.
Coolidge	26,750
Long	46,659

The biggest "off year" vote in the history of the State was cast. The total vote will exceed 515,000.

Boston alone registered 16,598 more votes than a year ago. Governor Coolidge increased his vote by 16,600 and Mr. Long got the $79 that was left.

Colonel Herbert, the only soldier candidate on either ticket, went up with the other Democratic candidates against a bombardment that probably revived memories of No Man's Land.

The entire State ticket also went into the office with the Governor.

Even Fred J. Burrell of Medford, who spells his name with an "e," and who is not State Treasurer Burrill who signs the $100 bonus checks, was elected Treasurer against the G. O. P. machine attempt to hand the job to the Democratic banker candidate, Chandler M. Wood.

BURRELL WON BY 75,000.

The towns that Mr. Long carried can be counted on the fingers of one hand. And the complainer girls won't get tired adding up the total minority members in both branches of the Legislature for 1920.

Ask the happy Governor today about that Vice-President boom and he will probably say "Let us attend strictly to the State's business." Ask his friends and with a wink, with apparently hurt feelings, "Why shouldn't he be considered for President?" But one of the three Republican leaders on the State today said to the American: "The Presidential nomination will undoubtedly go to the Middle West, where, the women voting, they have two votes to one once."

MAY NOT ACCEPT BOOM.

There are two possibilities that will keep the Governor out of the Vice-President nomination:

1—That he wouldn't take it.

2—That General Leonard Wood will get the presidential nomination.

With all due respect to the two gentlemen, either possibility is said to be reasonably remote.

This is the day for recapitulation. One look at Boston's meagre 5,000 for Mr. Long tells the story. Mr. Walsh and Mr. Foss had carried it by 30,000 and the Framingham manufacturer had come with some show of confidence that he expected 40,000. Last year Mr. Long left Boston with 19,000 and ran it again to 30,000 coming in from the small towns. This year he left with 5,149 and ran up against thousands coming in the other way.

It used to be said, "As Hull goes, so goes the State." Hull went:

Coolidge	347

LAST YEAR.

Coolidge	140
Long	95

Norwell, the first town in, showed 229 for Coolidge and 15 for Long. A year ago it was: Coolidge, 126; Long, 49. That vote was proved by the onrushing bulletins to be typical of the Coolidge gain and the Long loss from the green hills of the Berkshires to the sandy slopes of Cape Cod.

COOLIDGE GAINED HEAVILY.

A few city votes in different parts of the State emphasize the tremendous gains made by the Governor.

Attleboro

Coolidge	1,884	1,308
Long	804	817

Chelsea

Coolidge	2,257	1,448
Long	2,062	1,726

Beverly

Coolidge	2,551	1,733
Long	1,976	1,159

Lawrence

Coolidge	4,819	3,072
Long	5,347	4,200

A couple of towns show the trend:

Abington

Coolidge	686	428
Long	308	425

Berlin

Coolidge	182	122
Long	8	8

A microscopic scrutiny of the returns shows that the Democratic candidate carried in addition to Boston only Clinton, Lawrence, Lynn, Milford, Blackstone, Millville, Southbridge, Webster and Hinsbo[illegible] last by four votes.

Mr. Long expected to carry Chelsea. He lost it by 195. He last year carried Democratic Lawrence by 1,328. This year he expected to increase that lead. Governor Coolidge reduced it to 478. New Bedford, which was reported to show signs of Republican disaffection, went for Governor Coolidge by 4,000. Fall River, which Governor Coolidge carried last year by 611 and which the Democratic candidates expected to carry, gave Governor Coolidge the handsome majority of 3,764.

CARRIES LONGS TOWN.

Governor Coolidge last year carried Mr. Long's home town of Framingham by twenty-two. He this year swept through the town with a majority of 231. West Dennis: Coolidge, 70; Long, 0.

One of the seven precincts in Ward 5, the Lomasney district, went for the Governor by a vote of 246 to 234—and he escaped carrying a second by six votes—51 to 257. A year ago Mr. Long led the Governor by 1,885 in that ward. His majority was reduced to 1,650. Mr. Lomasney's friends were saying today that they were unable to reconcile the citizens of Italian extraction at the time of a party in which allowed Fiume to be extracted from the Fatherland.

"Law and order" swept through the State. The labor leaders took the capital issue as the test, and the union workmen evidently did not follow them. "Law and order" satisfied them. The vote in Lawrence, Lowell, Fall River, New Bedford and the other industrial centres plainly indicates that.

LONG RAPS WILSON.

Mr. Long feels that he suffered severely on the attitude of President Wilson on the League of Nations, on the lack of reconstruction leadership and on his departure from progressive politics. He particularly resented President Wilson's Helena denunciation of the Boston policemen, and he is on the point of issuing a statement telling what he thought of what he regarded as Presidential interference.

He finally decided to take an optimistic view of the outcome and issued a cheerful little statement thanking his supporters and expressing the confidence that the issues he discussed will ultimately prevail.

Governor Coolidge expressed the gratitude which he feels. He then said:

"The attempt to appeal to class prejudice has failed. No misrepresentation has blinded them, no sophistry has turned them. The heart of the people has proven again sound and true."

As during the campaign, Governor Coolidge again addressed himself to the workers over the heads of the leaders. He said:

WAGE EARNERS VINDICATED.

"The wage earners have vindicated themselves. They have shown by their votes that they resent trying to use them for private interests, or that they can be employed to resist the government. Some of those who pose as their leaders and argued that the wage-earners are patriotic because those leaders told them to be, may well now inquire whether the case did not stand the other way about."

CHARGES CAUSE STIR AT COMMON HEARING

Macomber of the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Peters, and added that a majority of the executive committee of Boston Common Society favored the plan.

"If we can accept this compromise," said Mr. Pierce, "it will give us a bulwark of defense for the Common for all days to come, and will give us the strongest kind of an argument for defending the Common. We believe that by yielding a little at this time we shall save the Common for all."

The speaker said that the plan was reached only after consultation with leading traffic experts from all over the country, who generally regarded it as the most scientific width for a street in the business district. This, he quoted experts as saying, would allow four lines of traffic, and room for passengers to alight from vehicles.

Tremont street is about thirty-nine feet wide at Boylston and thirty-five feet wide at Mason, he said; while Boylston street is about thirty-three feet wide between Tremont and Charles.

The original plan of the street commissioners to widen the streets to 70 feet, Mr. Pierce said, would be at best only a palliative and would not solve the fundamental difficulty of traffic congestion. Rather, he declared, it would increase instead of alleviating the problem, by tempting more vehicles to use a broad thoroughfare.

Vice-President William H. Fahey of the Chamber of Commerce said that that body had agreed to the compromise.

Lure of Sugar Drew Out Voters in One N. Y. District

New York, Nov. 5. — Three pounds of sugar as a free gift was the lure held out to entice voters of the Seventeenth Election District, Second Assembly District, to turn out and cast their ballots, and to say it worked is to put it mildly.

John De Salvio, Democratic captain of the district, who is better known locally as "Jimmy Kelly," made the offer holding out the bait, and he laid no restrictions upon the voter's party affiliation. From Democrat to Socialist, all they had to do was cast their ballot then come around to "Jimmy's" store at No. 153 Baxter street and walk off with enough sugar to sweeten coffee for an elephant. Nearly 1,500 pounds of sugar was thus given away—but "Jimmy" got out the vote.

The close vote, of course, means a contest and a recount. The Tiger's old-time motto, "Never say die," is still a guide for Democratic stress.

Still another dart shot into Murphy's pride by the outraged electorate was the choice of Magistrate Henry H. Curran for president of the Borough of Manhattan over the popular incumbent Edward F. Boyle of Tammany. Even Judge Curran himself was surprised at his victory. He will have two votes in the board of estimate.

TAMMANY'S LOSSES.

What Tammany lost:

Two Supreme Court justices.

One City Court justice.

Five votes in the Board of Estimate.

The president of the Board of Aldermen.

One Assemblyman in Manhattan and two in the Bronx.

Tammany won only a surrogate and two City Court judges.

When he left Tammany Hall early today "Boss" Murphy was gloomier than usual. However, he came out of it, as "the boys" would say, long enough to claim the election of Moran and of his son-in-law, Senator James A. Foley, as surrogate. Foley's election had been conceded several hours before. Said the big chief:

"I will not concede the election of Curran as borough president until the full returns are in."

SURPRISE IN BROOKLYN.

In Brooklyn the most interesting and the really outstanding feature of the election was the surprising showing of Reuben I. Haskell, candidate for county judge on the Republican ticket. Haskell made his campaign on a wet platform, with the full force of the Anti-Saloon League in the field against him. He won by about two to one, returns indicate.

John H. McCooey, Democratic leader of Kings, who made an issue of his county ticket, appears to have lost by about 20,000. The Republican leader, Jacob A. Livingston, predicted that the entire Republican county ticket would be swept into office, with the possible exception of William E. Kelley, Democrat, who seems to have won re-election as county clerk.

Claim Edwards, "Wet" Candidate, Elected in New Jersey by 5,000

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 5.—State Senator Edward I. Edwards, Democrat, who made his campaign on a "wet ticket," has been elected Governor of New Jersey, according to claims made to his headquarters today. It was declared that the complete returns would show a majority of from 5,000 to 8,000 for Mr. Edwards.

Republican leaders, supporting Newton A. K. Bugbee, refused to concede Mr. Edwards' election "until the last ballot was counted."

Another "wet" victor was S. Roy Heath, Democratic candidate for the State Senate from Mercer County. Women are not allowed to vote in New Jersey.

Indications Point to hio Having a "Dry" Majority of 40,000

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—Ohio has rolled up another dry majority. The size of the majority is yet in doubt, but returns from half of Ohio's eighty-eight counties received at the office of the Secretary of State indicate that it will not be less than 40,000 and probably 50,000. "Dry" headquarters claim victory by 75,000.

Chief interest centred in the Federal amendment, as Ohio for the first time in the history of the country took a referendum on a Federal amendment to the constitution. According to "dry" leaders the vote insures national prohibition becoming effective and will frustrate plans of the "wets" for defeat the Federal amendment by means of State referendums.

A rigid enforcement act met with the voters' approval. An amendment permitting 2.75 per cent. beer and light wines was defeated and the State wide prohibition amendment upheld.

Classification of property for taxation was defeated by 100,000. The election showed a Republican trend in mayoralty contests.

Fleming Elected in Troy.

Troy, Nov. 5.—J. W. Fleming, Democrat, has been elected Mayor of Troy with the entire city ticket.

Wilson Sits Up Late to Get News of Elections

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 5.—President Wilson's condition was so greatly improved that Dr. Grayson permitted his patient to receive the election returns in his sick chamber.

The returns were received at the telegraph room in the executive offices and were relayed by messenger to the sick room, where they were read to Mr. Wilson by Mrs. Wilson and Dr. Grayson.

The President remained awake until a late hour, hoping to get final results from his own State of New Jersey, but when Dr. Grayson decided that he had taxed his strength enough, the result of that State was still in doubt.

'WETS' TRIUMPH IN NEW JERSEY ELECTIONS

Republicans Sweep Kentucky and Tammany Gets Knock-out in New York

Aside from the tremendous plurality by which Governor Calvin Coolidge was re-elected in Massachusetts, there were outstanding features of significant interest in local elections all over the country.

Chief among these was the marked tendency in favor of "wet" legislation, in spite of the landslide by which Ohio increased its "dry" majority of 25,000 of last year to about 80,000 yesterday.

In New Jersey, Senator Edward I. Edwards, Democrat, who made his campaign on a "wet" platform, has apparently been elected Governor. According to claims made at Democratic headquarters, the complete returns will show a majority for Edwards of 5,000 to 8,000. Republican leaders supporting Newton A. K. Bugbee refused to concede the election of Edwards until the last ballot was counted.

In that State also the wets had a victory in the election of S. Roy Heath, Democratic candidate for the State Senate from Mercer County. It was pointed out that women are not allowed to vote in New Jersey.

Kentucky, a Democratic State, followed the example of Massachusetts, electing a Republican Governor in the person of Edwin P. Morrow by a plurality estimated at close to 20,000. Mr. Morrow opposed the League of Nations in his campaign.

In Virginia slight Republican gains were made in the Assembly, but the Democrat remain in control. No State officers were elected.

The Republicans gained decisive victories in New York and Philadelphia, the latter city electing Representative J. Hampton Moore, Republican, by about 183,000 majority, one of the biggest ever known in the history of Philadelphia politics.

In New York Tammany received a "knockout" in both municipal and county elections. Five of the women elected to important city and county offices were Republicans, and a final count today showed the election of F. H. La Guardia, Republican, to the presidency of the Board of Aldermen by a majority of more than 1,200.

In Reading, Pa., Socialists are claiming the election of their candidate for Mayor, Henry Stump, over John K. Stauffer, Republican, by a small majority. Michigan held only municipal elections. In Detroit John V. Franch, a street car conductor, was elected Mayor over an attorney.

In Maryland both sides were claiming the election today, after one of the most exciting in the history of the State. The electors voted for Governor and members of the Legislature.

BOSTON WOMAN CHARGES BREACH OF PROMISE BY EX-CHURCH SEXTON

REMARRIED DIVORCED WIFE

Portsmouth, N. H., Man Has Also Been Sued for Church Fund Shortage

Mrs. Helen Chandler today joined the list of litigants against James Scully of Portsmouth, N. H., which list includes Scully's wife, with the Roman Catholic bishop of Manchester, and Rev. D. Alexander Sullivan of Portsmouth. Mrs. Chandler sues for $20,000 for alleged breach of promise, and Scully's property has been attached for that amount by sheriff W. H. Shaw of Portsmouth.

Scully was sexton of the Church of the Immaculate Conception here when Father Sullivan took the parish. He was first in court when he sought a divorce from his wife. This was granted. Then Father Sullivan discovered that $8,000 of the church's funds were unaccounted for. Because it was Scully's duty as sexton to bank the money taken in collections and otherwise he was sued in the Superior Court, before Judge Marble, with the bishop of Manchester and Father Sullivan as joint litigants. Judge Marble awarded the two clergymen $5,000 and interest for two years.

Following this appearance in court Scully and his divorced wife became reconciled and were remarried by a justice of the peace.

In the interval before the remarriage, Mrs. Chandler alleges, Scully devoted his time to her and promised to wed her. Mrs. Chandler is a Boston woman and her attorneys are Edward G. Daly of this city and Daly and Sullivan of Berlin, N. H.

ASTOR LEFT PALTRY $25,000,000, SAYS SON

By Universal Service.

Special Cable Dispatch.

Plymouth, Nov. 5.—"Father's estate is very small, less than 5,000,000 pounds ($25,000,000), I believe, though I don't know the exact figure. He has given all away to his children and others during the past ten years. I have seen a summary of the will, and there are no large bequests to charity in it."

Major Waldorf Astor, who, by the death of his father, has become the second Viscount Astor, made these statements to your correspondent.

British Women Paying $20 to $45 a Pair for Their Shoes

Universal Service Staff Correspondent

London, Nov. 5.—Shoes in England today cost from $15.50 to $25 per pair, and there's nothing fancy about them but the price. They are the same shoes that before the war were selling for from $4 to $7. Prices for shoes in England do not change monthly or even weekly—they go up daily.

The above cost applies principally to galoshes worn by men and boys. A woman is in worse luck. For her, a self-respecting pair of boots will cost anywhere between $40 and $45, and there's no exaggeration about the prices quoted. You can pay more if you are so inclined. Of course, you can are shoes and shoes, and they can be purchased as low as $5, but they are mostly paper.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1843 Horlick of Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

Meehan said that of all places, the last he would enter if he had his choice would be a candy shop. Meehan was held in $5,000 bail for the Grand Jury.

CAPT. BRICKLEY CITY COUNCIL CANDIDATE

War Hero, Cited Six Times for Bravery, Takes Out Nomination Papers

Cited for bravery six times, Captain David J. Brickley of the 101st Machine Gun Battalion, whose home is at No. 299 Temple street, West Roxbury, today took out nomination papers for the City Council. He went overseas a private and returned a captain.

Captain Brickley served in the ranks a little more than three months after his company got into the fight. He held a difficult position at Verdun all by himself, after the rest of his gun crew and the entire crews of two other guns that were to assist in holding the position were wiped out. For this act he was commissioned a second lieutenant on February 4, 1918.

For fighting bravely later at St Mihiel, on August 13 that year, he gained his silver bar, and more feats at Verdun won him a captaincy, which he received November 13. He also won the distinction of having seen more service in the front line than any other officer in the entire American Expeditionary Force. He was wounded in action twice and was gassed several times.

PHELAN IS DELIGHTED AT COOLIDGE'S VICTORY

James J. Phelan, former assistant food administrator for Massachusetts, and Democrat, who supported Governor Coolidge in the campaign, said: "As a sincere Democrat interested in the welfare of his party, of course I am delighted with the victory of Calvin Coolidge. He won this great victory on his 47th per cent. Americanism. He stood for the true Democratic party of Jefferson and Cleveland and Wilson, and the people upon which the party rests—law and order. When the fundamental is at issue, all other views are thrown aside. Now that the fundamental issue is settled and settled right, would it not be in order to appeal to the country to insist upon the United States Senate immediately ending the war by ratification of the treaty, and without any ifs and ands?"

GOVERNOR BARTLETT CONGRATULATES COOLIDGE

The following dispatch was read at the American House where the Republicans gathered to receive the returns:

"Hon. Calvin Coolidge, Governor of Massachusetts, Boston, Mass.:

"Accept my sincere congratulations for your splendid victory. I knew that when the question of law and order was in the balance that the voice of Massachusetts would ring true.

"JOHN H. BARTLETT,
"Governor of New Hampshire.
"Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 4, 1919."

BAY STATE STANDS FOR LAW AND ORDER, HAYS SAYS

Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, today telephoned his congratulations from Washington to Chairman Hall of the State committee, saying:

"I congratulate you and every member of the State, city and town committees through whose efforts this splendid victory has been achieved. Massachusetts has shown the country that it stands as always for law and order, and the effect of Governor Coolidge's re-election will be felt in every section of the United States."

SEEK $3,000,000 FUND TO AID STEEL STRIKERS

By Universal Service.

New York, Nov. 5.—A nation-wide movement to aid the steel strikers, sponsored and urged by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is shortly to be organized for the purpose of keeping the strike alive, Gompers says, if necessary." A fund of between $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 is to be raised, of which New York city will be expected to furnish $2,000,000, the money to be used to purchase and send food to the strikers.

PEOPLE ACCEPTED THE CHALLENGE, SAYS COX

Lieutenant-Governor Channing Cox said:

"The issue was clear. The people understood it. They accepted the challenge. They have defended their own homes against the fires of disorder and destruction. It is a great victory for American institutions and American government. All honor to every man—Republican, Democrat and Independent—who helped defend the name of Massachusetts."

NANCY ASTOR'S CAMPAIGN HAS LOTS OF 'PEP'

Stirs Jaded Politicians by Her Brisk Fight for Seat in Commons

By International News Service.

Plymouth, Eng., Nov. 5.—All of the "pep" known to the Ancient political candidate is being injected into the campaign of Viscountess Nancy Astor, who is standing for her husband's seat in the House of Commons from this district. Her astounding Astor's methods are acting like a tonic upon the jaded politicians.

"While they are thinking about things, she does them," said one enthusiastic constituent.

Viscountess Astor is holding a series of meetings in a different hall each day. There are many women at each meeting, for the titled candidate has made it one of her pledges to work for the betterment of conditions surrounding women, if elected.

HUMOR IN CAMPAIGN.

Seldom has a parliamentary candidate put the same amount of humor into a parliamentary campaign as Viscountess Astor, although there is no lack of seriousness, either. She was on her way into a meeting place when her way was barred by a number of photographers and newspaper correspondents.

The Viscountess threw up her hands in mock horror, crying: "Spare me!" The reply to this was a volley of questions and a glare of flash-light powder.

"Men of Devon, come to my rescue!" cried the Viscountess.

"I got a great deal of satisfaction in studying conditions for myself," said Viscountess Astor, who has personally carried her campaign into the quarters of the city inhabited by the very poor.

DELIGHTS IN "HECKLING."

"Heckling" has no terrors for the vivacious candidate. It is her delight to cause in the middle of a speech to make rapid-fire replies to questions shot at her by political opponents.

"She has her Irish Socialist and Liberal opponents on the jump," was the expression of one enthusiastic supporter.

In her addresses at the Coalition Unionist meetings, Viscountess Astor speaks with a quick Virginia accent, but puts all the vigor at her command into her talk.

Usually a British political audience is silent and stolid, but the Viscountess stirs her listeners into cheers and roars of laughter. She frequently drops into slang, and once in a while uses "ain't" for "isn't."

Viscountess Astor addressed a meeting today. Her slender figure was set off by a black velvet gown and a rogue with an aigrette.

TO FIGHT FOR WOMEN.

After reading her set speech, she threw away the manuscript and made a few impromptu remarks:

"I am going into Commons to fight for the women and children," she said. "I am not a sex-candidate. (A favorite expression of hers.) It is a matter of the heart and mind with me. I probably am one of the most serious-minded women in Great Britain, but, thank heaven, I have a sense of humor. I can even laugh when I am going over the top. During the war 24,000 men passed through our hospital and I was one of the workers there. I know what if my manners are slightly like those of a drill sergeant, you will have to excuse me."

Viscount Astor still is attempting to divest himself of his title in order to remain in the House of Commons, but it is unlikely that he will be successful.

The formal nomination in the Plymouth by-election will be on November 7. The polling will take place on November 15 and official announcement of the result will be made on November 28.

WATERTOWN WOMAN IS BADLY HURT BY AUTO

Mrs. John F. Foresman of No. 70 Cathering street, Watertown, is at the Dozer Hospital in a serious condition as the result of being knocked down by an automobile, in Mt. Auburn street. The machine was owned by Reta Barrett of No. 65 Dudley road, Medford, and was driven by Carl H. Thomas of the same address.

According to the story he told the police, Mrs. Foresman became helpless in crossing the street and stepped in front of the auto.

AMERICANS CAUGHT IN "TRAINLESS" GERMANY

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The suspension of railway passenger traffic to conserve coal went into effect today. The order caused a panic among American business men attempting to get out of the country before the train paralysis set in. Scenes around the headquarters of the American Mission recalled the days of August, 1914, when travellers marooned by the war were trying to get passports to get out of the country.

MANCHESTER, N. H., HAS DEMOCRATIC OVERTURN

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 5.—For the second time in fifty years Manchester elected a Democratic Mayor and a majority of the Board of Aldermen. Mayor Verrette was re-elected by a majority of 1,172.

German Map Makers to Keep Pre-War Boundaries

Berlin, Nov. 5.—German map publishers have entered into a solemn pact to preserve all pre-war boundary lines as well as the old German place names in every future map of Germany. The idea, inspired by German nationalists and propagated by two big map publishers, the Perthes (Carl Flemming and C. T. Wescott), is to keep the former greatness of the crumbled empire constantly before the eye of Germany's youth, lest the thought of revenge perish.

Germany's children thus are to be taught consistently that Alsace - Lorraine, Schleswig - Holstein, Posen, Silesia and the ceded portions of East and West Prussia are still integral parts of the German Empire, but temporarily occupied by predatory conversaries from whose talons they must be wrested.

A certain Professor Kettler, writing in the pan-German Deutsche Zeitung, advocates an extension of German designations into the Entente's own domains. Nancy is to be written Nansig on German maps, Udine is changed to Weiden.

Carrying this idea to extremes, Professor Kettler declares that the real German name for Fiume is St. Veit am Flaum. While Albazia, in his geographical vocabulary, becomes St. Jakob am Meer.

"Our first object in present-time sadness must be to preserve our Germanism," observes the professor.

PECK IS CHOSEN FOR G. O. P. COMMITTEEMAN

Providence, Nov. 5.—Frederick S. Peck, millionaire business man banker and "the watchdog of the State Treasury," was elected Republican national committeeman in a secret conference called at the Crown Hotel by the Republican State central committee here today. Peck, who is widely known for his connection with the cotton interests, succeeds the late William Payne Sheffield of Newport. All other candidates for the position withdrew at the suggestion of Republican national leaders and the Harrington man went in without opposition.

COUNTESS SZECHENYI GOES TO NEW YORK

Newport, R. I., Nov. 5.—Countess Laszio Szechenyi (Gladys Vanderbilt), who has been at The Breakers since her return to this country, has leased a house at Tuxedo Park, N. Y., for the Winter. With her mother the Countess has already departed for Tuxedo Park, to be followed shortly by the four children.

Hooker Will Allowed

The will of Melville E. Hooker of Framingham who died June 7, 1919, has been allowed. Lyman H. Hooker of Framingham has been appointed as executor and has given a bond of $40,000. The estate is valued at $19,788.94.

WHITE ARMY IN TRAP, SAYS TROTZKY

Will Be Treated Like Brothers if They Surrender, Declares Bolshevik Leader

London, Nov. 5.—Contradicting earlier advices, a dispatch from Helsingfors to the Daily Express late today stated that Finland would intervene in Russia against the Bolsheviks. The decision followed a request by the Northwest government, which is supported by General Yudenitch's White army.

By International News Service.

London, Nov. 5.—"The Petrograd offensive of General Yudenitch has definitely failed and cannot be renewed unless it is aided from the north," telegraphed the Helsingfors correspondent of the Central News today. The Bolsheviks are attacking furiously southwest, of Petrograd.

"General Yudenitch's army has been surrounded and the only salvation of the soldiers is to surrender," said a wireless dispatch from Leon Trotzky, Bolshevik Minister of War, at Moscow.

"If the troops give up," added Trotzky, "they will be treated like brothers."

THRIFT BAZAAR AT COPLEY-PLAZA OPENS

Prominent actors and actresses sold thrift and war savings stamps today at the Thrift Bazaar in the Copley-Plaza. The bazaar, which will last two days, is under the auspices of the Florence Crittenton League, and the board of management includes many well-known Bostonians. Prominent clubwomen from Winchester, Cohasset, Brookline, Milton, Malden, Melrose and Dorchester acted as saleladies, and Mrs. Guy W. Currier is general chairman. Mrs. A. R. Lounsbury is the vice-chairman and Clarence R. Preston general secretary.

NEWPORT WANTS NEW FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Newport, R. I., Nov. 5.—Newport's present system of city government is too unwieldy, in the opinion of leading Republicans, who, in forming the Citizens' Campaign Association to back Thomas Ives Rare Bowel for Mayor, and the various Republican aldermanic candidates, stated that they were strong for a repeal or a radical amendment of the charter. It is believed that for a city of only 21,000 inhabitants $1,000,000 and more to carry on municipal affairs is extravagance.

File Underhill Inventory

An inventory of the estate of Minnie H. Underhill of Somerville who died April 25, 1919, has been filed. The estate is valued at $13,296.95; $63,396.95 in personal property and $21,000 in real estate.

BAY STATE VOTE GRATIFYING TO OLE HANSON

Demonstrates Opposition to "Minority Rule," Says Seattle's Ex-Mayor

"Massachusetts voted against rule by the minority," declared Ole Hanson, Seattle's fighting Mayor, just before he left Boston today for Bridgeport, to speak in his campaign against the "Reds."

"The vote was gratifying. She satisfied the nation. And it the women had had their say yesterday they would get on counting the votes for your victorious Governor, because women always vote for home and country.

"Then suddenly he drifted to his drive against the alien "Reds" infesting America. "We've got to get rid of them," he declared. "We must. The life of the nation is at stake. If they exist, as the Lusk committee claims, as we know they do, then organized labor has its life in its own hands. If labor doesn't get rid of them, it is up to all true Americans to get rid of organized labor.

He urged a national drive for the purpose of exterminating all undesirables and offered his plan of immigration. If Hanson could have his way he would require any person in a foreign country desiring to come to America to first visit the local representative of the United States and make known such intentions.

Then an application blank in the form of a questionnaire would be filled out, investigated and finally turned over to a board of immigration at Washington for final consideration.

At Washington, in the office of this board, would be a series of charts showing the "manhood demand" throughout the country. If the alien were then allowed to enter the country he would establish himself in such part of the country as the government saw fit, and remain there, willing to get work and not migrate until he had become an American citizen. Hanson said:

"There are too many aliens in the country, colonized in all the large cities of the East. Under such a plan we would not think of putting a Jewish immigrant in the East Side of New York, because he would always remain as such. We would place him in some American community where he would have the opportunity to become an American."

BRITISH CHARITABLE SOCIETY AIDED 527

The British Charitable Society will hold its 103d annual meeting at the Hotel Bellevue tomorrow evening. The nominating committee will report as follows: Chairman, C. C. Murfitt; vice-president, P. K. Mohun; treasurer, Stuart Tod; executive secretary, John R. Smith; directors, John Laurie and Walter L. Holmes. The annual report shows that 290 persons, members of families, were assisted and 218 single persons. The cash donations for the year amounted to $1,470.84, and the general fund receipts and disbursements amounted to $2,214.45.

BURRELL SAYS VOTE IS SIGNAL VICTORY

Fred J. Burrell issued the following statement.

"I greatly appreciate the handsome vote given me by voters throughout the State. The support of the endorsement of true Americanism, defeated Socialism and Communism. The attempt of a few Republicans to discredit me failed utterly, and my vote is a signal victory for the men who supported me in the primaries."

ELECTRIC PLANE TO ENCIRCLE WORLD

By Universal Service.

New York, Nov. 5.—The world is to be circled by an electric-propelled airplane, carrying 100 passengers, it is announced in a dispatch received here from Henry Woodhouse, who is in Paris.

Plans were revealed in Chicago, according to Mr. Woodhouse, for a 6,000-ton horsepower electric-propelled plane, having a huge wing spread, in which 100 passengers will be able to circle the globe.

LACK OF COAL DRIVES PARISIANS TO SOCIALISM

Paris, Nov. 5. — The nation-wide misery caused by the lack of coal is driving legions of voters into the arms of radicalism, Gustave Herve, editor of La Victoire, goes so far as to declare that the vote will be added to those of the Revolutionary Socialists in the coming election, owing to the "profound misery produced by suffering from hunger and cold."

President Poincare Startles France by Joining 'Drys'

By Universal Service.

Special Cable Dispatch.

Paris, Nov. 5.—Raymond Poincare, President of France, has joined the "drys."

He spread the sensation in a speech opening the new Tuberculosis Sanitarium in Paris, saying:

"Now that the victory of arms is ours we must gird our loins for a greater triumph—against alcohol."

French public opinion is amazed at this announcement, particularly in view of the fact that presidential banquets are famed for the richness of the wines served.

NON-SUPPORT CHARGED TO GOODSPEED

Dentist Arraigned With Pearl Rose to Be Rearrested if Bailed

Dr. Frank L. Goodspeed, the Whitman dentist, now awaiting trial on the charge of violating the Mann Act with Miss Pearl Rose, will be rearrested on another charge if he secures bail, according to the Federal authorities today.

District Attorney Katzman of Plymouth County forwarded to the Federal officials a warrant charging Goodspeed with neglecting to support his wife and two children.

Dr. Goodspeed and Miss Rose, his office assistant, were brought back from Los Angeles after a Plymouth County Grand Jury had indicted them on the charge of conspiracy to violate the Mann Act. An additional indictment charging violation of the act was returned against the dentist.

In Federal Court yesterday, Miss Rose was released on $500 bail, and went to her mother's home in Abington. Goodspeed was unable to procure the $1,000 bonds demanded, and was committed to the East Cambridge Jail.

IDENTIFIES LONDON SUB ENTRANCES BY SMELL

A newcomer to London writes to the Daily Express that a blind man can identify practically every subway entrance or tube in London by the sense of smell.

A reporter followed his nose in a test of the theory and came back joyous in proving it, but sad-eyed for all that, for one man Chatham Common he averred he suffered from the rich, sweet perfumes of a wine cellar of ancient Madeira wine; but, try as he would, he could never find the supposed secret entrance which must have wafted the odor into the tube.

WOMEN LEARN BELL-RINGING AS BEAUTY AID

H. W. Flower, seventy, oldest bell ringer in London and set a spry young man, tells the race a youth to the belfry top and how nary a blow after doing it, says bell ringing is the most healthful occupation in the world.

Particularly for women. He wants women bell ringers. He's teaching some of them the art of bell ringing now.

GOWNS DAMAGED BY BOYLSTON STREET FIRE

Damage estimated at $6,000 was caused by fire to the stock of Wilson, Inc., gowns and suits, and Miss Palmer and Mrs. Christie, modistes. Both firms occupy space at Nos. 723-725 Boylston street, where flames were discovered in the basement early today.

The blaze was confined to the basement, but smoke and water damaged the goods on the floor and first floor. The cause is undetermined.

ROLPH AGAIN MAYOR OF SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—Mayor James Rolph, Jr., was re-elected Mayor over Eugene Schmitz by a large majority. While it is impossible to estimate Rolph's majority at this time the Schmitz adherents concede Rolph's majority will be larger than his supporters had estimated.

PICK SEVEN MEN TO CARRY OUT DRY LAW

Commissioner Roper Plans Program to Cover Every State in Country

Washington, Nov. 5.—Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue, has announced the names of a committee to work out and assist in inaugurating a plan of organization for the enforcement of national prohibition throughout the country.

The following compose the committee: Deputy Commissioner H. M. Gaylord, chairman revenue agents; David Gates of Arkansas, Thomas E. Stone of Ohio, S. R. Bruce of Virginia, Daniel J. Cantt of Georgia, Daniel B. Porter of New York, and John L. Considine of California. Judge Charles Robison of Indianapolis is associated with the committee in an advisory capacity.

The commissioner, Mr. Roper says, is expected to complete its work within the next ten days, and the program when approved will be promptly made public.

"They will," says Mr. Roper, "study the problem of prohibition enforcement for the country as a whole and make a detailed investigation of the special needs of the several States and localities. In this enforcement program no State, county or municipal officer will be relieved of responsibility."

The Treasury Department, it was stated, could, if called upon by Congress, settle in short order the question of the disposition of the 72,000,000 gallons of whiskey in bond in warehouse and in the hands of dealers.

The treasury plan is to buy this whole amount and to let it out, say, at the rate of 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 gallons a month for industrial and medicinal purposes.

NO LUCK UNTIL DOUGHBOYS CAME, NOW TAKES HOLIDAY

London, Nov. 5.—John Francis, sixty-eight, who never had any luck in his life until the doughboys came to London, is going to take the "missus" to Brighton for one big lust.

After thirty years of hard knocks he found himself with bootblacking privileges in the Strand, and a barren spot it was until Sight Unseen opened. Then the Yanks were liberal.

The Yanks left and just as France was slipping back into poverty again some one found him and he learned of his mother's twenty-two years before.

After a fortnight at Brighton, first time we've even been to the seaside, we'll take a spry cut and jump the rest in war saving certificates," he said. "There must be something lucky about Eagle Hat. Before it came here there were twenty years when for weeks at a time I didn't have enough to stop under at night."

HERBERT OFFERS COX HIS CONGRATULATIONS

John F. J. Herbert of Worcester, the only soldier-candidate on the ticket and defeated for Lieutenant-Governor, said:

"The people of the State in the only way possible for them to express it, have given the returning soldiers and sailors in the privilege to have been a soldier from Massachusetts in the great war. They have enough loyalty for a time. I may not serve the State in an elective political office, but I will serve it in the best and in any way possible to a God-fearing, liberty-loving, civil citizen.

"I offer genuine congratulations to Channing H. Cox on his re-election and I wish for him the splendid honorable service in the office of Lieutenant-Governor."

ARRAIGN THREE IN SOMERVILLE STRIKE

Frank Lubski of Webster avenue, Somerville, Thomas F. Callinan, Columbia street, Somerville, and Cosmo Dividio of Hardy street, Cambridge, were arraigned in Somerville Court today following disturbances in connection with the strike at the plant of the Universal Portland Cement Company. They pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued until tomorrow.

and go where we please," were the battle cries of the angry women as they fought.

Government Will Proceed to Fight Coal Strike by Injunction Method

Washington, Nov. 5.—The government will not halt its legal proceedings against the leaders of the coal strike. Legal action against the strike leaders will continue while the strike lasts.

Judge C. B. Ames of the Department of Justice made this statement today in response to published statements from Samuel Gompers and John L. Lewis that the strikers would arbitrate if the injunction proceedings, brought by the government were vacated.

Judge Ames issued the following statement:

"The strike is a violation of the law. As long as it continues we are going to proceed in the courts. The dispute between the mine owners and the workers is an entirely different question that they can settle in their own way. The government cannot tolerate continued violation of the law such as this strike will constitute."

Federal troops were asked today by coal operators of the Hazard coal fields in Kentucky. The operators in a conference with Dr. Garfield declared that the protection of troops was necessary for the operation of their mines, which are non-union mines. They stated that non-union miners would be intimidated by union miners from nearby fields unless protection was given.

Forty per cent. more miners are at work in the Colorado mines today than there were yesterday, according to reports to the Department of Justice today.

The governmental dragnet for alleged profiteers and slackers is being laid, it was learned today. The Department of Justice has sent many agents into the coal fields and among other industries and in planning a general round-up of all those who are reported thus far, except in a few isolated cases. It was no secret, however, that many railroad lines have curtailed their operations in the conservation of coal.

Freight traffic has already been cut by 40 per cent., but it was declared that this is the percentage that is represented by coal traffic. Director-General Hines of the railroad administration was today making arrangements for the first meeting of the central committee which he has appointed to distribute coal according to the preferential lists established by Fuel Administrator Garfield.

No action was expected today on the resolution of Senator Kenyon of Iowa to appoint a commission for the arbitration of the coal strike. The resolution has gone to committees and may rest there for some time.

Gompers Says Injunction Is Grave Mistake and Miners Will Win Strike

By International News Service.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Samuel Gompers declared today that industrial unrest is the hope of the laboring class as well as the race, and that the injunction proceedings, tying the hands of the miners' officials, was "a grave, grave mistake," creating a situation in which it is 'every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost.'" He said:

"The solution of the strike question is for both sides to enter into conference determined to put aside class prejudice, class hatred, and strive earnestly to find the balance of justice.

"When the injunction proceedings were begun the miners' strike call was already out. The proceedings have made a condition in which striking miners are without leadership in their battle for justice, decent working hours, fair wages. From now on it is every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost. It was a grave mistake—grave mistake.

"And yet I am looking for a speedy termination of the struggle. We will have the men been trained by their former skirmishes with capital that now, in decisive battle, I feel the workers will come forth victorious, even though their leaders have been shackled by the proceedings to cripple strike action.

"It is folly to declare the I. W. W. element in the so-called 'red-wing' of the federation has any serious influence upon the federation's movements, when Senator Poindexter, whose hearer is in the ring for Republican nomination for the presidency, says the widespread anarchy will be the result of industrial unrest and turbulency, the Senator and other men of his ilk are ignorant of their subject.

"HANSON TALKS TOO MUCH."

"Ole Hanson, Seattle's Mayor, who has been taking altogether too much credit for the way which industrial complications in his city have ended, is another loud talker who has little acquaintance with labor affairs. Ole Hanson talks too much.

"Extreme radicals are not and never have been in control of the A. F. of L. Proof? Look at the June convention of the federation. The vote then was 24,000 against 400 'red' votes. Not even one per cent. is it? William Z. Foster, head of the steel strikers, has repudiated the charge of syndicalism against him. The public was wrong! The public has wrong impressions of the federation and constantly jumps to the justice of the miners' demands. Exceedingly conservative demands, they are, too.

"When operators realize the only way they can deal with labor is to seek conference and adopt fair-minded measures, then and then only the coal strike and other strikes will be settled. Peace at the point of the bayonet is not peace. It means temporary cessation of hostilities merely. Should capitalists cow strikers with the flash of steel or power and authority, it will be only a little time until another uprising is started. Should workers club owners into agreement it means but a flitting while until the owners, their strength restored, resume the fray with fresh fury.

BELIEVES IN UNREST.

"I believe in industrial unrest. Unrest is movement, and under proper guidance it means progress. R-E-S-T spells stagnation. The injunction business does nothing more than deprive of guidance this heaving movement of the workers. A train speeding along a track is a fine thing. It is progress toward some goal. But take the guiding hands from the throttle and what is the result? Collision and wreckage.

"Evolution and not revolution is my motto. Unrest, properly guided, is evolution; unrest, blindly surging, sweeping away everything like a tidal wave, is revolution.

"I foresee the day when there will be an International Federation of Labor. How long away that day is I cannot foretell. But it is coming. It is inevitable.

"There has been never a civilization, never a government under which workers have had justice, freedom, happiness. Mind you, I believe in the American government and that it is fully capable in the last analysis of coping with any condition. But before the workers can obtain their due there must be unrest—properly guided—and there will be always unrest.

"The industrial conference was mere child's play. Wait until the employers are willing to confer with us, meeting us with the desire for justice and fair play strong in their hearts. Then there will be happy results."

"The miners in asking for a 30-hour week are not making radical demands at all. The six-hour-day and the five-day week are the miners' right considering the intermittent nature of coal mining in the past. Nationalization of industries? No. I refuse to discuss that question now. Remember the miners are asking for a fair wage scale. Think what the operators are asking for a ton of coal.

"The workers are demanding and are going to get living conditions in the meanwhile they face a cost of living——"

Unions Intact and Strike Reaches Stationary Stage at Pennsylvania Mines

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 5.—Reports from the various soft coal centres in Pennsylvania today indicated that the miners' strike had reached a stationary stage.

Although there were stories of dissatisfaction among the strikers, their ranks were intact. A few union miners were working at different operations, but their number was negligible.

Non-union operators increased production, despite the unrest among the unorganized workers. Owners of mines in the Clearfield district, where it was reported 5,000 men had joined the strikers, said today their operations were working 100 per cent. The non-union men who struck in Mercer County yesterday are still out, but there was no increase in their ranks.

All Mines Closed in Illinois, Both Operators and Union Men Say

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 5.—"All mines in the State closed. No disturbances." This was the terse answer from Illinois miners' union officials and coal operators here today to inquiries regarding the strike. Union heads continue to predict a long struggle, while the operators believe that an agreement will be reached before the close of the week.

SEVERAL years ago we believed there existed a demand for a good phonograph at a reasonable price and on terms which would bring it within the reach of all. The SILVERTONE was designed and built to meet this demand. By adopting and combining the best features of all the phonographs then on the market, by making such improvements as experience had proved necessary, and by using only the finest materials in its construction, we succeeded in making the SILVERTONE a phonograph of super-quality.

Quantity production, efficient manufacturing methods and our economical mode of selling, enabled us to offer the SILVERTONE at a price far below that of other phonographs of the same size, quality and musical perfection.

The enthusiastic response of our six million customers when we announced the SILVERTONE, proved to us that we had indeed filled a long-felt want. Since then hundreds of thousands of these phonographs have been sold and are giving their owners universal satisfaction and pleasure.

The popularity which the SILVERTONE has enjoyed among our own customers has led us to believe that everybody, everywhere, whether or not they are customers of Sears, Roebuck and Co., will welcome the opportunity to purchase a good phonograph at a reasonable price, and on terms which make it easy for everybody to own one. That is why we are making this liberal offer.

Send No Money—30 Days Trial

Select any SILVERTONE Phonograph illustrated on this page, fill in the order blank below and mail it to Sears, Roebuck and Co. today. We will send you the phonograph without the payment of one cent in advance. And this does not obligate you in any way. All we want you to do is to try the instrument for thirty days. Examine its mechanical features, cabinet work and finish. Compare its musical excellence with any other phonograph. Give it every test necessary to prove the truth of our claims for it. If at the end of this 30-day trial you are not satisfied with the instrument, if you do not believe that it is the equal of any phonograph on the market, and that the price is lower than any other instrument of the same quality, size and musical perfection, simply notify us and we will take it away at our own expense. This 30-day trial does not cost you one penny, nor does it place you under any obligation to buy.

Plays All Disc Records

The SILVERTONE convertible tone arm permits the playing of any make or size of disc records, including the Columbia, Victor, Edison, OkeH, Emerson, Pathe or any other disc record. And it plays them all with the purity and richness of tone that marks the perfect reproducing instrument.

Easy Payments

If you decide to keep the phonograph after this 30-day trial, send us the price of the phonograph you have selected in equal payments each month until the total is paid. The amount of the monthly payment on each machine is shown under the illustrations of the various models.

Tone

Tone quality depends upon the reproducer, tone arm and amplifying chamber. Each must be correctly designed and proportioned and harmonized in its relation to the other two so that all will act together as a unit. This has been done in the SILVERTONE. The SILVERTONE reproducer faithfully restores every tone quality, every delicate shading of expression, every minute variation of volume and density, every sound vibration

Tone Control

The SILVERTONE is equipped with a tone modulator which gives complete control of the volume of sound. It serves the same purpose as the doors on the Victrola or the shutters on the Columbia Grafonola.

Mrs. Joseph Meilleur, 455 Jefferson street, Tiffin, Ohio, writes:

"I have used the Mentho-Laxene for colds. Must say I find it better than any cough syrup I have ever used yet. I coughed night and day for a week. After I got the Mentho-Laxene to use the coughing stopped in three days, etc."

Just buy a 2½-ounce bottle of Mentho-Laxene (it's richly concentrated) and mix it with simple syrup, as per directions with bottle, and then you will have a whole pint of the finest, quickest cold, cough, and catarrh medicine you ever used, and no opiates or narcotics, either. Hundreds of thousands of people now make their own medicine to avoid expense and uncertainty.—Advertisement.

WHEN MEALS DON'T FIT

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the quickest Indigestion and Stomach Relief

When meals hit back and your stomach is sour, acid, gassy or you feel full and bloated. When you have heavy lumps of pain or headache from indigestion. Here is instant relief!

Just as soon as you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin all the dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach distress caused by acidity ends. These harmless tablets of Pape's never fail to neutralize the stomach acids and make you feel fine, and they cost so little.—Advertisement.

E. Gerry Brown Wins, Breaking Record in 10th Plymouth

Brockton, Nov. 5.—E. Gerry Brown, the veteran labor leader, celebrated his return to politics by winning the House election in the Tenth Plymouth District. He is the first Democrat to carry the district in ten years.

Mr. Brown once polled 195,000 votes for Lieutenant-Governor. He was the first State supervisor of small loans.

He also served as a member of the Constitutional Convention.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Well-known local druggist says everybody is using old-time Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that old-time color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through you hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the glossy and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

CATARRH AND COLDS RELIEVED AT ONCE

Opens Up Clogged Nostrils, Banishes Cold in Head and Catarrh, Like Magic

CAMPHOROLE soothes and relieves catarrhal deafness and head noises. It drives out congestion without appliances, inhalers, lotions, harmful drugs, smoke or electricity. Do not treat your cold lightly; this is pneumonia season. If you have cold in head, pain in chest, or sore throat, send to nearest drug store for a jar of CAMPHOROLE, and watch how quickly it will relieve you.

Physicians recommend CAMPHOROLE for colds and catarrhal affections of the nose and throat, bronchitis, croup, asthma, stiff neck, sore muscles, lumbago, stiff joints, headache, frosted feet, rheumatism, cold in muscles, neuritis, hay fever. Applied to chest it will check development of cold and often prevent pneumonia. Dr. Brigadell's CAMPHOROLE, 50c

Long Congratulates Coolidge But Stands by Party Issues

Richard H. Long, defeated Democratic candidate for Governor, made the following statement when he was assured Governor Coolidge had been re-elected by a landslide vote:

"Governor Coolidge appears to have won by a decisive vote and I congratulate him. I still believe in the issues that I advocated and time will determine the righteousness of our cause. I cheerfully accept the result of the election."

King Alfonso Stirs London by Dress Suit at Dinner

By Universal Service.
Special Cable Dispatch.

London, Nov. 5.—King Alfonso of Spain, who has come to be looked upon as one of Europe's foremost arbiters of fashion, has stirred London society by appearing in evening dress at dinner. If the king hoped to start a new fashion thereby, he is doomed to disappointment, for but few men have followed this novel "stunt."

Another sartorial sensation sprung by Alfonso is a violet ribbon around his hat. But with this, too, he appears to have failed to make a hit. Lord Sudsley and Lord Howard de Walden, both of whom are recognized as leading London fashion exponents, refused to adopt it.

17 CHAPTERS OF RED CROSS GO 'OVER THE TOP'

Lowell Fire Department 100 Per Cent. Red Cross; Election Hampers Filing of Reports

Three more chapters in the New England Division of the American Red Cross reported they have successfully completed their quotas of the national fund of $15,000,000, making a total of seventeen chapters that have gone "over the top" in the Third Red Cross Roll Call, so far as money is concerned. Not a single chapter, however, has yet reported that it has secured its full quota of members.

Up to today only meagre reports had been received from the 108 chapters in the New England Division on the progress of the Roll Call, which opened Monday and will continue through next Tuesday. Telegraph wires were congested with reports of the Massachusetts election, and Roll Call reports failed to come through. In many cases chapters postponed any attempt to report until after election.

23 CHAPTERS REPORT.

Only twenty-three chapters in the division had forwarded any figures either on money or members up to today, and the Boston Metropolitan Chapter totals for two days have not been tabulated. There is evidence that the actual progress of the roll call is much greater than shown by the few figures so far available.

The three chapters which reported their money quotas completed are: Claremont, N. H., with $2,050; Martha's Vineyard, with $550, and Taunton, with $12,500. The Berkshire County Chapter, with headquarters in Pittsfield, reported 16,000 members, nearly one-half its membership quota.

NEWTON HAS 1,730 MEMBERS.

The Newton Chapter telephoned that it had secured 1,730 members, in addition to the 2,520 of the first day, making a membership total of 4,250. The quota is 15,956 members.

The Caribou, Maine, Chapter reported that its membership total had gone to 340, from 180 for the first day.

The Lowell fire department, with 143 members, is now 100 per cent. Red Cross. Every fireman has joined the North Middlesex County Chapter.

The 23 Chapters that have filed reports have secured a total of $76,130 towards the New England quota of $1,350,000 of the national fund, and 29,327 members of the New England quota of a million and a half members.

Additions to the student council have been made at the Boston University School of Law. Representatives from the three classes are: Walter G. Powers, chairman, seniors; Edmund J. Campbell of Dorchester, junior; James McCarty, freshmen.

Joy's Joy Aboard Joy Ended When Joy Lands in Jail

By Universal Service.

New York, Nov. 5.—Seeking joy for Mrs. Joy, Harold E. Joy, skipper of the yacht Joy, found the joy all taken out of the Joy family's life today when he was arrested for wearing the uniform of a lieutenant-commander of the American navy.

"It's all my wife's fault," declared Joy, who is twenty, according to the police of Brooklyn. "She bought me this uniform, the service stripe and wound stripe, and a yacht—the 'Joy.' She dubbed me lieutenant-commander of the U. S. S. Joy, and told me if I didn't wear the uniform she would leave me. That's why I'm wearing it."

Joy said he attempted to become a real sailor for Uncle Sam, but his application had been rejected. He was held for the naval authorities.

LAWRENCE POLICE HALE AUTOISTS INTO COURT

Lawrence, Nov. 5.—Speeding autoists are being haled into court in large numbers, due to the activity of the traffic department of the police. Edward St. Louis and Anthony Sarkarinos were arraigned and paid fines for violating the speed laws. A charge of speeding lodged against Annunzio Farzio was continued. One autoist was fined for not observing the regulations regarding lights.

PROTESTS TEACHING OF GERMAN IN CHARLTON

Charlton, Nov. 5.—George A. Hayes, School Committee member, has registered a protest with the other members of the committee against the teaching of German in Charlton High School. A course was established recently at the school in order to fulfil college entrance requirements. He objects to the teaching of German on the ground that it is unpatriotic.

ADAMS GROWS GOOD UNDER PROHIBITION

Adams, Nov. 5.—Adams is growing better since war-time prohibition first went into force, according to statistics compiled by Chief of Police John Hudecker. The chief's records show that during the past sixteen weeks only twenty-eight arrests for drunkenness have been made as compared with 123 arrests for the same offense during the same period last year.

B. U. JUNIORS TO HOLD FIRST SOCIAL FUNCTION

Juniors of the College of Business Administration of Boston University will hold their first social function Friday evening, in the form of a dance, at the Aberdeen studio, Brookline. Harold W. Lyons, Brockton, is chairman of the dance committee, assisted by Miss Dorothy C. Thielscher, Roslindale; Miss Katherine M. Whalen, Beverly, and Abraham Grossman, Dorchester.

CHARGE BOYS ON ISLAND SUFFER CRUEL TREATMENT

Mothers and guardians of boys who are placed at the Farm and Trades School at Thompson's Island, pleaded with the members of the Patriot's Dames, at their meeting on Berkeley street, to take action against the cruel treatment they alleged the boys at that school suffer. It was voted to ask Governor Coolidge to appoint a special commission to investigate the charges.

B. U. STUDENTS RECEIVE PRESIDENT THIS EVENING

College songs, arranged for the occasion, will be part of tonight's program at the reception to Dr. and Mrs. Lemuel Herbert Murlin by the students and faculty of the College of Secretarial Science of Boston University. This will be President Murlin's first visit to the new college, established during his absence in Europe. Miss Margaret O'Bryan, Miss Cordelia Nickerson and Miss Lillian McCarthy, presidents of the junior, sophomore and freshman classes, respectively, are the student members of the committee. Mrs. Frank Boyd Tupper is chairman, assisted by the Misses Gertrude Curtis, Helen Byrnes, Marie Duggan, of the faculty.

DEAN BANISHES RADCLIFFE DISTURBER

Mike has been thrown out of Radcliffe.

Mike has become an issue at the famous institution of learning for women across the bridge.

He had divided the college. He had been the subject around which had been written a whole new code of rules. He had become the bane of Dean Bloody's life, while he remains the delight of Mary Trask.

LEAGUE FURNISHED MIKE.

Mary Trask is a sophomore with ideas. She is pretty. She comes from Panama. She is popular. She wears her hair cut short, man fashion. She is the leading lady of all the college shows. She is the institution's leading athlete. Dogs are popular with her and vice versa.

In the college's last show a dog was needed. The Animal Rescue League furnished Mike, who immediately fell in love with all the girls, especially Mary Trask. After he had played his part faithfully and well, he was adopted by Mary.

ENTER DEAN BOODY.

Enter Dean Bertha Boody. Rumor has it that she always objected to Mary's boyish haircut, but no search through the college archives revealed a rule that would ban such a style. Rumor has no part in the report of Dean Boody's dislike for Mike. She hated Trask animal from the first, an open and avowed hate. Then started the new code of rules.

Mike was barred from the institution's halls of learning. Accordingly Mary threw him over a nearby fence for the study period. Next he was barred from the grounds, whereupon Mary tied him up in her room. Followed his ban from the chamber, the faculty fearing that someone would trip over his leash and sue the college.

MIKE CRIES FOR FUDGE.

He was boarded with a neighbor, until came the final banishment. It was decreed that no Radcliffe girl could own a dog. Mike is boarding out now, crying for the fudge that once was his, and he has been taught to bark and growl when the name "Boody," is mentioned.

Friends of Mary Trask say that the young lady is sad and particularly angry because the mistress of one of the halls is allowed to keep a dog which has none of the virtues of Mike, by popular acclaim at Radcliffe, "the dartingest puppy in the world."

HOUSE SHORTAGE SO ACUTE KEYS TO HOMES AUCTIONED

Sydney, Nov. 2.—So acute has the shortage of houses become in New South Wales that the government has drawn up a scheme for state housing under the direction of a Minister for Housing.

At Forbes it is proposed to demolish the local jail and to erect on the site a dozen houses out of the material. So numerous are the applicants for houses that tenants, prior to leaving rented premises, have conducted from their balconies auction sales for the possession of the keys of the house. The government intends erecting 5,000 houses in Sydney for sale to purchasers on easy terms.

JAPANESE GEISHA GIRLS BIT BY "STRIKE" BEE

Honolulu, T. H., Nov. 2.—The "strike" bee bit the Japanese geisha girls entertaining in tea houses here and they informed the managers they wanted an extra fifty cents an hour over their rate of $1. They won and the "suffering" public will pay, for the added cost of entertainment has merely been added to the bill.

The high cost of living, with rice up several dollars per sack, was the reason given by the geisha girls for their action.

WOMAN'S QUICK ACTION SAVES FARMHAND'S LIFE

Plymouth, Ia., Nov. 2.—Quick action on the part of the wife of his employer, Mrs. M. E. Kinney, saved the life of Robert Frederick on the Kinney farm, one mile west of here.

While leading a bull about the farmyard the animal became enraged and started to attack Frederick. Mr. Kinney, a victim of rheumatism, saw the danger and called to his wife for help. Mrs. Kinney responded and, grabbing a handy pitchfork, quickly put the bull to flight.

LEGION DELEGATES OFF FOR BIG CONVENTION

The advance delegation of the State headquarters of the American Legion to the national convention at Minneapolis left, this noon, on the "Wolverine" from the South Station.

This delegation will represent Massachusetts at the preliminary meeting of the Legionaires to discuss plans and other business for the convention, which opens on Armistice Day.

NORFOLK GIRL FILES $10,000 LOVE SUIT

Miss Josephine Sanclemente, age sixteen, of Norfolk, through her father, Pietro Sanclemente, has filed a $10,000 suit in the Norfolk County Superior Court, at Dedham, against Matteo Notarangelo, also of Norfolk, charging him with alleged breach of promise to merry and other serious complaints.

MODERN ENGLISH GIRLS TURN FROM TRASHY NOVEL

London, Nov. 5.—Modern English girls, particularly those who have been sobered by war work, now read high-class literature, say the book dealers.

The light novels—sometimes called "trash"—finds readiest sale among middle-aged and gray-haired women.

MISS ETHEL FLETCHER, of Providence, offered as the first candidate for the prize left by Count Bajnotti's will.

B. U. STUDENT BODY APPOINTS A CABINET

Following the proposed plan of "Academic Democracy," a cabinet has been chosen from the student body of the College of Business Administration of Boston University.

Miss Florence C. Stier of Lynn, Paul B. Hanrahan of Boston and Charles Goodrich of Boston represent the junior class, while Stanley W. Heath of Hampton, Va., represents the sophomores. William L. Adams represents the ex-service men appointed by the Federal board to continue their studies at B. U.

INSURANCE GIRL SEEKS WILL PRIZE

Mayor Gainer Awaits Testament Before Selecting "Family Virtue" Fund Winner

Providence, Nov. 5.—The $10,000 trust fund left by Count Paul Bajnotti for a "daughter of the common people," who "by her conduct and family virtues" is most deserving of the prize, has aroused interest all over the city, and it is expected that hundreds will be recommended in compliance with the stipulation of the will.

Miss Ethel Fletcher, an expert centrographer, holding a responsible position with an insurance company, is the first official candidate offered to Mayor Gainer, who says he must await official communication from the executor before trying to solve what is admitted to be a problem.

The sponsors for Miss Fletcher say she was born in Pawtucket and is twenty-four years old today. She was attending high school at Pawtucket when her father met with financial reverses and the family moved to this city, where Miss Fletcher was obliged to abandon school and earn her living. After several months as a telephone operator Miss Fletcher took a course in operating a comtompmeter and became an expert.

"It is a problem for an official to undertake," said the Mayor. "My secretary, Miss Ann Healey, is not a candidate, as stated in the newspapers. I can't tell what plan will be introduced until I know the wording of the will. It may, however, permit others to aid me in selecting the winner. To undertake this problem alone is a burden. However, I shall formulate plans and settle the question as speedily as possible."

Keyes Will Inventoried

An inventory of the estate of Michael Keyes of Framingham, who died June 6, 1919, has been filed. The estate is valued at $18,797.62, all in personal property.

U. S. Women Will End Coal Strike, Says French Expert

By YVES GUYOT,
Leading French Economist.
Special Cable Dispatch.

Paris, Nov. 5.—"Europe is not worried by the American miners' strike, for the reason that it is counting upon the common sense of the American women to save America and the whole world from the appalling consequences of a prolonged coal shortage.

This strike differs from others in that it affects the home life, and women's province generally. The intelligent and progressive American housewives will not stand by coolly and see their families denied food and warmth, and see them endangered by influenza and pneumonia.

They will counsel their husbands to urge the government to suppress, through the most vigorous measures, the agitation jeopardizing the nation's health which is in their safekeeping.

American wives and mothers may even declare a counter-strike, refusing to discharge their marital duties until the crisis is over.

INTER-FRAT COUNCIL IS FORMED AT B. U.

Fraternities at Boston University have formed an inter-frat council. Basket ball teams, representing the various "frats," will soon stage weekly games in the Rhodes gymnasium. College of Liberal Arts. An interfraternity dance will be held December 5.

The charter members of the inter-frat council are: Alpha Kappa Psi, Alpha Sigma, Delta Theta Pi, Delta Sinma Pi, Lambda, Lambda, Chi Alpha, Kappa Phi Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

BABY STRANGLED TO DEATH IN SWING

Concordia, Kan., Nov. 5.—Entangled in the rope when a swing slipped, Lawrence Delude, the fourteen-months-old son of Walter Delude, near Aurora, was strangled to death.

The child, who had been playing with other children, was not missed until supper time, when a search was immediately instituted.

GIRL BACK FROM PARIS WEARS PANTALOONS

Miss Sheer, Home on Nieuw Amsterdam, Says U. S. Women Will Take Up Fad

By Universal Service.

New York, Nov. 5.—Dressed in pantaloons of the knickerbocker variety, made of black satin caught at the knees and trimmed with gold brocade, Miss A. Sheer returned to the United States on the Nieuw Amsterdam.

Miss Sheer said that women here would soon be wearing trousers and that there was nothing startling in her dress.

SAYS COMFORT FIRST.

"There really is no reasonable argument against them," she said, "and certainly they are comfortable, allowing the wearer the freest possible movements. The first idea of the trousers or knickerbockers came from the farmerettes, who realized that skirts were a thing of the past. Certainly if one wore pants, one would be different, but the women of America are nothing if they are not different."

Mrs. William M. Posner, who arrived on the Nieuw Amsterdam, brought back the latest news from Paris, which has started some very startling innovations in fashions. She said that if American women are to follow the Paris fashions this year, they will have to adopt this program:

"HIP" GOWNS LATEST.

NUXATED IRON
POWER HEALTH VITALITY ENDURANCE STRENGTH ENERGY

Nuxated Iron increases strength and endurance of delicate, nervous run-down people in two weeks' time in many instances. It has been used and endorsed by such men as former United States Senator and Vice-Presidential Nominee, Charles A. Towner; former Health Commissioner Dr. R. Ross Kerr, of Chicago; United States Judge G. W. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington; Ignace Jan Paderewski, Premier of Poland and Master Pianist, and others. Ask your doctor or druggist about it.

Home-Made Lotion for Wrinkled, Flabby Skin

To remove wrinkles and age lines, or to delay their formation, a simple lotion made by dissolving one ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half-pint of witch hazel will be found wonderfully effective. This tends to tighten and tone up the relaxed skin, making it firm and smooth. The ingredients, of course, can be had at any drug store or in toilet section of department stores.

Bathe the face with this harmless lotion for a while, and every line will vanish, including the deepest crows' feet and furrows, even from the first application proves surprising results. There is nothing better for reducing double chin and sagging cheek muscles, as well as enlarged pores. No trace of the treatment itself remains on the face, as your friends will not guess the reason for your rejuvenated appearance.—Advertisement.

To Have Curly, Wavy Hair Like 'Nature's Own'

Women who have trouble keeping their hair in curl or of securing the desired wavy effect—and especially those who realize the harm that the hot iron does to the hair—will do well to try plain liquid silmerine. In no other way can they acquire such pretty waves and curls, having all the appearance of "Nature's own." And the hair, instead of being singed, ragged or dead looking, has such a lively lustre and wholesome beauty.

If you will get a bottle of liquid silmerine at any drug store and follow the accompanying directions, she will be delighted with the result. This is of course perfectly harmless [illegible] nothing sticky, greasy or [illegible] not it. The hair will be [illegible] to master in other ways.—Advertisement.

A new way of washing

You just soak your clothes clean instead of the old rubbing and boiling

You just put your clothes to soak—with a new soap product.

You have been told so often of machines that would wash your clothes for you, of products that would get the dirt out without any work on your part, that the story of this new product is going to be hard for you to believe.

It is hard to believe that a simple soap product, absolutely harmless, can, just by a soaking overnight, so loosen the dirt in your clothes that when they are rinsed in the morning, all the dirt comes out.

As a matter of fact, if the overnight soaking is inconvenient, three hours soaking will accomplish the same wonderful result.

All you have to do is to take them out and rinse them!

And they are snowy white and clean! Only a few very soiled places, like cuff edges, need a light rubbing between your hands.

That is what RINSO is doing for thousands of women who have already secured it. It has changed their whole way of washing.

And those same women felt as you now feel, when they first heard of RINSO'S wonderful results—they couldn't believe it!

And now they are like Mrs. Terry—whose letter is given here—they have found that the old way of washing is gone—and that the new RINSO way of soaking your clothes clean has entirely eliminated the hardest work a housewife has to do—washday boiling and rubbing.

Use RINSO yourself this week—see how it really soaks your clothes clean—see if you don't feel just as enthusiastic as Mrs. Terry does.

Get RINSO today from your grocer, and follow the simple directions on the package. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass. (Makers of Lux.)

"Soaking Clothes is Certainly Easier Than Rubbing Them" says Mrs. Terry

"When I first used Rinso I thought if it only saved half of the usual rubbing it would be wonderful.

The directions for mixing it up were easy to follow—and I got a beautiful sudsy tubful for the clothes to soak in over night.

And in the morning—most of the dirt dropped right out in the Rinso suds, as I swished the clothes up and down. One or two really ground-in spots came out like magic when I put a little dry Rinso on the spots and rubbed lightly between my hands.

Two good rinsings and the clothes were beautifully white and ready for the line at 9 o'clock instead of not till noon.

There wasn't any of the exhausting work that washing had always meant before. Soaking clothes clean is certainly easier than rubbing."

Mrs. M. A. Terry, New York City.

J. P. Collins ELECTED As Usual, to Reduce Piano Prices

The public expects me to keep down prices and haven't lost faith in me yet. Good Reason—I sell pianos of all kinds for much less than anyone I know of and I have been doing it for years. Just now, with prices on everything soaring sky-high, I have some job on my hands, believe me, to keep prices within reason. But up to date I believe that I have satisfied everyone concerned and hope to do so indefinitely. But in view of present conditions I advise early buying. Get your piano for Christmas at once—later you may have to pay more for it, and have delivery delayed. Don't wait!

RUNAWAY GIRL WANTED TO BE SAILOR

Hyannisport, Nov. 5.—Navy Department posters advising young men to "shove off, see the world, join the navy," caused fourteen-year-old Lillian Marsh to run away in her brother's clothes, she declared today.

The girl, bored by the monotony of country life, succumbed to the nicely worded invitations to travel, thereby demonstrating the pulling power of these examples of the press agent's art.

For hours, volunteer and police combed this section of the Cape in search of the girl, who disappeared from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Marsh, last Sunday. She was found in Boston and brought back to her home last night.

In telling her story today, Lillian said:

"I had a schoolmate who joined the navy four months ago. I received a number of letters from him telling me about the fine life he was leading and the places he went to.

"I began to feel lonesome and grew tired of country life. I wanted to see some other place besides Hyannisport, and the Navy Department posters gave me an idea. They told of the many opportunities given to sailors to see the world.

"At length I thought of a plan which I decided to carry out, but which, after all, proved worthless. Anyhow, I thought that if I dressed in boy's clothes, and was able to make my way to Boston without anyone learning that I was a girl, I could enlist in the navy without trouble. I got the suit of my brother and started, but they found me."

Geraldine Farrar, the opera star and movie queen, gave the spectators of her picture, "The World and Its Women," at Gordon's Olympia, a treat this afternoon when she appeared in person before the film was shown.

Miss Farrar was instantly recognized by the audience, and gave an ovation. She did not attempt to make a speech but she thanked them in a very charming manner for their appreciation of her work.

NEWSPAPER WOMAN IS BRIDE IN SOMERVILLE

Miss Theresa A. Doherty of Somerville, a newspaper woman formerly on the staff of the Boston American, was married today to John J. Lynch, an insurance man, also of Somerville, at a nuptial mass in St. Catherine's Church, Somerville, by Rev. James J. O'Brien. A cousin of the bride, Miss Miriam Doherty of Allston, was maid of honor, and Daniel F. Lynch, brother of the groom, was best man. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's uncle, George L. McGarr, No. 80 Vine street, Somerville. The couple will reside in Belmont. The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart Academy of Kenwood, New York, and Boston University.

MAN 104 LAUGHS AT GLAND GRAFTING

Clean-Living Men Don't Have to Borrow From Monkeys, He Says

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 5.—Timothy Carmody of Aurora, who is 103 years old today, is not at all interested in the announcement of Dr. Voronoff, eminent French surgeon, who said that he can make old men young by implanting the glands of apes or young and healthy human beings.

"I do not know what the world is coming to when men claim they can change what God meant to be.

"We were all put here by the same Creator. When it is time for our Maker to take us away we will go. All of the doctors and monkey glands in the world could not keep us here, if our Savior wanted to take us away.

"Men who live clean lives and get plenty of exercise need not borrow glands from others to retain their youth. The young man who spends his nights carousing, rolling in at early hours of the morning, cannot expect to live long. Early to bed, early to rise and plenty of exercise have always been my motto. I expect to live several years longer."

Mr. Carmody was born in County Kerry, Ireland, November 4, 1816, and has lived here for sixty years. He reads without glasses, and until recently, when he was taken ill with a severe cold, worked his own garden and walked a mile every day.

Ireland Chief Blot on British Rule, Says Maclean

By SIR DONALD MacLEAN,
Leader of the Independent Liberals in Parliament.

(Special Universal Service Cable Dispatch)

London, Nov. 5.—What is the government going to do about Ireland? It cannot ignore 400,000 soldiers and machine guns.

The position of Ireland affects every chancellery in Europe and it deeply affects us and the United States. It is the chief blot on British statesmanship.

I believe nothing but the application of sheer liberalism will ever kill it. The government cannot continue crushing an entire people. That is not the way Britain won South Africa.

WORKED ON DAY OFF, FIREMEN COMMENDED

In a general order Fire Commissioner Murphy commends the work of three officers and two men of the department for reporting to duty on their day off.

Lieutenant Charles A. Wolfe of Ladder Company 2, Lieutenant Patrick F. McLeavey of Ladder Company 21, and Captain Thomas Andreoli of Engine Company 11 were mentioned in the orders for their reporting with their companies at the drill school yard of the department, on Bristol street, South End, for company drill. Horseman Michael J. McLaughlin of Engine 50 and Engineer Patrick Hart of Engine 17 were commended for their work at fires.

BOSTON GETS 19,200 BAGS OF SUGAR

6,344,000 Pounds Unloaded for New England Market

A cargo of sugar consisting of 19,200 bags, weighing approximately 6,344,000 pounds, has been received in Boston. The shipment was consigned to the Revere Sugar Refinery, where it was taken at once to be refined for the over-anxious Boston and New England market.

The last of the 1918 Cuban crop is now being loaded in various ports of Cuba for shipment to American ports, according to Captain Winsens of the steamer Lake Lillooan, who reported that he was obliged to wait five days at Caibarien for 9,200 bags of sugar to make up his cargo, due to a shortage of raw sugar.

The 1919 crop will be harvested in December. Until that time even the Cubans are suffering from a shortage of the refined product.

Oriental Garbed Girls Sell Laundry Slips at Legion Bazaar

The young women of the wool purchasing quartermaster's office are now saying "No checks, no washee," because they have forsaken their homeland and taken up the Oriental. At least, that's the way everything appears this week at the American Legion Bazaar at Horticultural Hall.

The group of thirteen girls are clothed in the garb of the silent-eyed miss of the Orient. They mingle with the throng selling laundry checks which are redeemable at their special laundry booth for some favor. The plan is novel and they are being highly commended for the success they are achieving.

SOUTH END BOY OF FIVE LOSES LEG UNDER CAR

While playing in the street, Michael Flaherty, aged five years, of No. 24 Union Park street, was run knocked down and run over by an inward-bound Boston Elevated car and his left leg crushed.

He was taken to the City Hospital in an automobile, where it was found necessary to amputate the limb below the knee. The car was in charge of Motorman William Thompson and Conductor Harney P. Weld.

HOLLWEG TRIED TO HEAD OFF DEPORTATIONS

Was Told Germany Needed More Workers, Former Chancellor Testifies

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The German Army High Command was held responsible for the deportation of Belgian and French civilians during the war, by former Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, when he resumed giving testimony before the War Guilt Confession of the National Assembly.

The former Chancellor was asked how he justified the deportations after the United States had protested against them. He gave an evasive answer, saying:

"The deportations were distasteful to me, but the military officials demanded them. I personally called General von Bissing, former German Military Governor of Belgium, to Berlin for conference, and then sent him to Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff.

"Von Bissing did not oppose the policy of deportations so much as he did the methods. The military authorities insisted that Germany faced a labor crisis and that more workers were necessary."

Asked if he knew that thousands of deported Belgians had died, Von Bethmann-Hollweg evaded the question, but added: "I knew that more were deported than was necessary."

LONDON JUST FULL OF KINGS AND QUEENS

London, Nov. 5.—Not since the coronation of King George has London had so much royalty and so many distinguished foreign visitors in its midst. The King and Queen of Spain, the Shah of Persia, the Queen of Norway, and two deputations of Arab chiefs of ancient lineage are among the capital's guests, and the stage is set for a great reception for President Poincare of France.

Recipe to Make a Gray Hair Remedy

A. L. Paulson, M. D., who has practiced medicine in New York City for many years, gave out the following recipe for a home-made gray hair remedy: "Gray, streaked or faded hair can be quickly turned black, brown or light brown, whichever shade you desire, by the following remedy that you can make at home:

"Merely get a box of Orlex powders at any drug store. It costs very little and no extra to buy. Dissolve it in 4 oz. of distilled or rain water and comb it through the hair. Full directions for use and a gold bond guarantee come in each box.

"It is safe, does not rub off, is not sticky or greasy, and leaves the hair fluffy. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger.

MACKINAWS

$8.75 ALL-WOOL TESTED

That means good style, attractive colorings, long wear. And these are in pleasing plaids, are big and roomy, warm, and well-made. And what more could one ask at any price? Ages 8 to 18.

Tom Brown Leatherized ALL WOOL SUITS, $15 to $25

Elbows, pockets, seats, knees, lined with chamois

The suits you've heard so much about. The suits that are protected against inside strain (like the constant moving of knees and elbows) as thoroughly as against outside knocks. Reinforced seams, extra mending cloth, extra buttons, too; and all for the same prices as ordinary suits. Ages 7 to 17.

Boys' moleskin coats, $8.50

Moleskin outside, all wool lined inside, and a beaverized collar. How's that for value? Ages 8 to 18, and we can sell all we can get.

Boys' strong shoes

Sturdy leather, selected for long wear; well made; will stand hard knocks. Black, sizes 11½ to 2, $5.50, 2½ to 6, $6.50. Tan, 11½ to 2, $6, 2½ to 6, $7.

Tom Brown boys' blouses, $1.50

"Tom Brown" means these are no ordinary blouses, but superior at every point, for the same money as ordinary blouses. Polo collar, new two-button cuffs, woven madras in scarce candy stripes. Tom Brown shirts, same specifications, $2.

BOYS' SHOPS Clothes shop, hat shop, shoe shop, fixin' shop, first-long-trouser shop, children's eleven-chair, no-tip barber shop—all on second floor.

800 suits marked down

IT has always been Filene policy that what was good for the customer was best for the store, and marking down these suits NOW, while the edge is still on demand, is in line with that policy.

This is no ordinary collection of suits; there are no tag ends. Every type of suit from the highest to the lowest price, every material in Filene regular stocks has been price-lessened. In many styles there is a full range of sizes and colors.

The tailoring is worth special notice. The suits are regular Filene stocks, hand tailored, all from high-grade tailors, and many from resources from which any store considers it a privilege to buy.

Good merchandise is scarce and high.

"REDS" LINING UP NEGROES OF SOUTH IN STRIFE AGAINST CAPITAL

I. W. W. ISSUES PAPER TO SPREAD DISCONTENT

Do you know that alien radicals are at work in Boston advocating the overthrow of all law, and all government?

Do you know the organizations that are blazing the trail for this vicious propaganda, and what they seek to achieve?

The Boston American publishes today the third of a series of articles dealing with the underground activities of these Boston "Reds," which no one interested in his city's safety can afford to miss.

These articles show that the propaganda carried on here is not haphazard, but part of a well-conceived plan to bring on a world revolution.

They show that the trail of the "Reds" leads from the home of the immigrant struggling for bread to the Back Bay home of the "parlor Bolshevist."

They show that hundreds of persons in this community profess the principles of Trotsky and Lenine, and consider them the apostles of the new order.

They indicate that the insidious propaganda has attempted to convert to its purpose such widely diversified agencies as the school, the radical labor union and the American negro.

The articles are written by a member of the Boston American staff who has had exceptional opportunity to study the "Red" propaganda here. They are authoritative and interesting.

In the first installment the writer told of the meeting place in Boston of the revolutionary organizations and how they were freely distributing their radical propaganda throughout the city and suburbs.

The second installment described at length how the Workers' Council is rapidly taking the control of shops out of the hands of employers.

CHAPTER III.

The Industrial Workers of the World, with other radical groups of similar natures, are concentrating their activity for the One Big Union into another field that offers promising results . . . among the negroes of America. They are exploiting the sentimental negro, after race riots, lynchings and other outrages are perpetrated upon them by unthinking mobs of whites. And it has been reported that in cases like these the negro expresses a strong desire to willingly succumb to the wondrous song of equality and justifiable representation expounded to them by "Wobbly" and radical agitators.

SEEK TO ENLIST NEGROES.

Radicals realize that discontent among the negroes is a point in their favor. Radicalism exists hand in hand with discontent, and they lose little time in reaping the benefits derived. Already the radicals have started a radical magazine with which they are spreading discontent among the negroes.

Its front cover, printed in brilliant red, is adorned with symbolical figures representing "Liberty, Justice and Equality." Most prominent is a flaming torch held in a hand and inscribed around it—"The Only Radical Negro Paper in America."

A recent number, from which we quote, is an example of the rabidness of its message of discontent. It calls upon the negro to organize into the One Big Union with their white fellow citizens. Editorially the paper preaches, in part:

"Since fire must be fought with hell fire, and diamond must be cut with diamond, negroes realize that force alone is an effective medium to counteract force. Counter irritants are useful in curing diseases, and the negroes are being driven by their white fellow citizens to investigate the curative values inherent in mass action, revolvers and other lethal devices when applied to social diseases."

On another page the editorial view of strikes proceeds to a conclusive argument as On with the One Big Union! On with industrial unionism! On with the emancipation of the workers of the world!

On the inside fly leaf is a message to negro women from a birth control magazine, also from a school which offers to teach them the fundamental principles of radical Socialism.

CARTOONS INCITATIVE.

Numerous cartoons fill its pages. One in particular is very striking and incitative. It occupies almost a full page, showing the "new crowd negro" perched on an automobile with mounted machine guns on all sides spitting a rain of fire and lead into what is presumably meant to represent a gathering of white people.

In general, the paper covers the relationship of the migratory negro in the industrial world, the cause of racial hatred, and stridently pleads for recognition of the One Big Union idea among their class. This it applies with argument, editorial and other wise. The editors of this publication are instructors in the Rand School of Social Science of New York city.

In convincing the negro that the I. W. W. is the tie that binds them in one common cause, a recent issue offers the following as an argument:

"The negroes and the Industrial Workers of the World have interests not only in common, but interests that are identical. For example, those that constitute the Industrial Workers of the World are unskilled. So is the negro. They are migratory workers and have no political rights. So are the negroes. Hence the negro and the white migratory workers have no political action. The suffrage laws of residence has disfranchised the white migratory worker. The Southern States have disfranchised the negro, along with the profiteering landlords who move both of them so fast that they can't stay in a house long enough to vote. Hence there is no other course, then, to adopt but industrial action.

MUST JOIN VOTELESS WORKERS.

"The negro who is disfranchised must join other voteless workers. The negro, who is largely the unskilled worker in industry, must join that organization in which the workers are organized upon the basis of industry, thereby giving the skilled and unskilled equality of rights."

"Wobbly" propaganda of this nature is used in lining up the negro for the strife against capital. Meanwhile white men go forth and plow up fertile ground in which these propagandists plant their seed.

The "Wobblies," men commonly called the I. W. W., invade industry in many ways. In Boston, last month, a local was formed—The Metal and Machinery Workers' Union—affiliated with Local No. 380, which is the One Big Union in the Metal Trades. During that month, in the same industry, seven other branches were formed as follows: New York, 1; Chicago, 2; Farrell, Pa., 1; Philadelphia, Pa., 1; Youngstown, O., 1; and Elizabeth, N. J., 1. Such a record displays the magnitude of the strides this organization is making, and the success of its propaganda.

One method used by the I. W. W. in presenting the message of the One Big Union before the masses is through songs. The national office in Chicago has issued a number of "songs for rebel workers," in regular sheet music form, and have placed them on sale in practically every big city in the country. In Boston there are several places where one can easily purchase them. They are displayed quite prominently.

SONGS URGE REVOLT.

They also issue a red-covered booklet containing half a hundred songs; and, as printed on the front cover, it is to be used "to fan the flames of discontent." Practically every song is an appeal to the worker to arise and revolt against industrial "bondage." The following extracts taken at random reveal the nature of this insidious form of propaganda:

"Workers of the world, awaken!
Rise in all your splendid might;
Take the wealth that you are making,
It belongs to you by right.
You will for bread be crying,
We'll have freedom, love and health,
In the Workers' Commonwealth."

And of the Red Flag it chants:

"Look 'round, the Frenchman loves its blaze,
The sturdy German chants its praise;
In Moscow 'neaths its folds they're singing,
Chicago swells its surging song."

"The day when you begin to see the classes waging war
You can join the biggest tie-up that was ever known before,
When the strikes all o'er the country are united into one,
Then the workers' cause the Big Union all the rebels shall run."

And again:

"To arms! To arms! To brave!
Thy avenging sword unsheathe!
March on, march on, all hearts resolved
On Victory or Death!"

SOLD IN SOUTH END.

This songster, containing such agitating epistles for the workers, was purchased in a South End book store, where it was prominently displayed. It is published in foreign languages also. So it can be seen that the I. W. W. means to reach all nationalities with its message.

Its magazines and newspapers are not published in English alone. They publish in the fellow languages: Swedish, Spanish, Polish, Jewish, Italian, Russian, Hungarian, Finnish, German and Bulgarian, thus enabling them to reach the many classes which go into the makeup of America's melting pot.

The latest plan for a demonstration of "mass action" is that of a general strike. A resolution was adopted at a recent meeting of the General Defence Committee and the General Executive Board at Chicago, endorsing the proposition, but regarding it as "bad policy to announce the day." However, continues the resolution, "we will participate to the extent of our ability in the work of education and organization to bring about a general strike, demanding the release of all industrial, political and class war prisoners."

According to reports made public, the I. W. W. is making rapid strides in the Middle West and along the Pacific Coast. "Blanket stiffs," as the members are called there, report that "great campaigns are being instituted for new members" and that "they are enrolling at the rate of 10,000 a month." From the Dakotas one says: "Every one who can read and write is taking out credentials, and every job in the Dakotas will have at least one delegate on it for the next three months." Favorable reports come from the coal miners and lumberjacks.

DEFINES THE I. W. W.

Carlton H. Parker, of Seattle, Washington (now deceased), for a long time associated with the University of Washington, gives the following definition of the I. W. W. as he had found it during the course of an investigation conducted by him for the National Defense Council during the recent war. It is as follows:

"The I. W. W. is a union of unskilled workers in large part employed in agriculture and production of raw materials. While the I. W. W. appeared in the East at Lawrence, Massachusetts, Patterson, N. J., and certain other places, at the height of strike activity its normal habitat is in the Upper Middle West and Far West, from British Columbia down to Old Mexico. But within the past year (meaning 1918) apart from the Dakota wheat fields and the iron range of Minnesota and Michigan, the zone of important activities has been Arizona, California, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Colorado. The war-time I. W. W. problem was that of the Far West.

"It is fortunate for our analysis that the I. W. W. membership in the West is consistently of one type, and one which has had a uniform economic experience. It is made up of migratory workers currently called hobo labor. The term 'hobo miner,' and 'hobo lumberjack,' and 'blanket-stiff,' are familiar and necessary in accurate descriptions of Western labor conditions. Very few of these migratory workers have lived long enough in one place to establish a legal residence and to vote; and they are womanless. Only about 10 per cent. have been married; and these, for the most part, have either lost their wives or deserted them. They flence committee and the General Executive Board at Chicago, endorsing the proposition, but regarding it as 'bad policy to announce the day.' However, continues the resolution, 'we will participate to the extent of our ability in the work of education and organization to bring about a general strike, demanding the release of all industrial, political and class war prisoners.'

RUSSIAN 'REDS' CLAIM 'WHITES' DRIVEN BACK

London, Nov. 5.—Claim that the "White" forces in Russia have been driven back sixty-seven miles was made in the following official communique from the Bolsheviki War Office, received by wireless from Moscow today: "The enemy has been driven back sixty-seven miles from Voronosh. The 'Whites' are about to evacuate Ceak. The war in that district has been brought to a victorious termination. Admiral Kolchak's army is retreating in disorder."

ARLINGTON RED CROSS IN SESSION TONIGHT

The Arlington Red Cross will hold its annual meeting in Town Hall, Arlington, this evening, at 8 o'clock. Miss Ellen T. Emerson of Concord will speak on the work of the Smith College unit in northern France during the war. Other speakers will be Mrs. Ely, Miss Elizabeth Ross and Miss Anna King.

MEXICAN PETROLEUM CO. BUYS FALL RIVER LAND

Fall River, Nov. 5.—The Mexican Petroleum Company is making large land purchases in this city and will start building at once on a large scale, it became known today. Valuable waterfront properties have been secured.

NEW CAR SERVICE ON BEACON STREET BEGUN

New car service on Beacon street between the Reservoir and Park street went into effect today, and the patrons of the district were quick to express their satisfaction. Three-car train service is the rule now, with centre entrance cars.

MARYLAND ELECTS RITCHIE, DEMOCRAT

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 5.—Albert C. Ritchie, Democratic candidate for Governor, was elected over Harry W. Nice, Republican. Democrats elected their candidate for Attorney-General, as well as leading candidates for city offices, and will have a small majority in both branches of the next Legislature.

Teeth Are Ruined
By a Film—Millions of Them
All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

On Your Teeth Now

There is now on your teeth a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

The tooth brush alone doesn't end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. So month after month it stays there and may do a ceaseless damage.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Most tooth troubles are now traced directly to that film.

Dental scientists have for years sought a way to end film. They have known that brushing could not save teeth if it left that film upon them. Now that film combatant has been found. Convincing tests, under able authorities, have proved it beyond question. The method is now embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And we supply it free for testing to anyone who asks.

The Way to End It

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. But science has discovered a harmless activating method. Now activated pepsin can be applied, night and morning, to combat that film.

Leading dentists everywhere are now advising Pepsodent. Countless people have already adopted it. And trial tubes are offered everywhere to show others what it does.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Let your own mirror show you what Pepsodent means to your teeth. Then decide for yourself about it. Cut out the coupon now.

FOOD RATIONS IN BRITAIN ARE LOW

Shilling a Quart for Low Grade Milk; Butter Is Very Scarce

By International News Service.

London, Nov. 5 A broad survey of the country's pantry shows that while the country is in a far better position as regards supplies than last year the situation does not call for any joy bells while the outlook as regards the general food question is decidedly serious. The country will be on full of plenty as can be seen from the following data obtained from the Food Ministry, but no one will need to be hungry.

The Englishman will pay one shilling a quart for rather low-grade milk this Winter. In some rural communities it may be less, but that's to be the average town price. It will be the highest on record.

There is a three months' supply of bacon. Prices are controlled. No more stocked can be brought in because all cold storage warehouses are full. Some meat cargoes from abroad have reported at the docks owing to congestion. Next year bacon prices will go up because supplies will come from America, the exchange rate.

LITTLE BUTTER ON HAND.

There will be very little butter until January, when imports may come in from Holland and Denmark. Until then the ration here will be 1½ ounces weekly per person

There are several months' supply of sugar on hand, which retails at about fifteen cents a pound, including the government tax of five cents a pound. After present supplies are exhausted the price undoubtedly will go up.

Dried fruits are more difficult to obtain. The Greeks, who provided a great part of Europe with dried fruits are eating their product. Turkish supplies are unobtainable.

Supplies of cheese are far below normal. Surplus milk is being made into cheese, but the production is way in the rear of demand. Cheese is far more important factor in the European's diet than in the American's

FORBID RICE EXPORTS.

The Indian government has forbidden the exportation of rice, now retailed here at the controlled price of 3d., 8 cents a pound. Present rice stocks are believed to be sufficiently large to tide over until the next harvest. If not Siam and Saigon will have to be drawn upon, with a consequent doubling of the price here

The price of bread will continue at the low wartime rate, owing to the continuance of the government subsidy, no matter how high wheat may go. The four-pound loaf sells at 9½ pence. This is made possible because the government supplies bakers with a 280-pound sack of flour at 44 shillings 9 pence, which is 30 shillings below actual cost. However, the government plans to stop supplying such flour to confectioners and pastry bakers, making them stand the full charge

Jam will not have to be rationed this Winter, but the supplies are not sufficient to permit Great Britain to resume her place as the world's leading exporter of jams and marmalade. Prices will be the same as last Winter, as the Ministry has ordered, 9½ pence to 1 shilling 1 penny per pound.

GOVERNMENT SELLING TEA.

Attempts have been made by big tea dealers, since Government control was removed, to force up the price of tea, formerly set at 2 shillings 4 pence a pound. The Government is now "bearing" the market by offering 20,000,000 pounds of tea for sale monthly. The country's consumption is but 28,000,000 pounds monthly.

Fish prices are high, though supplies are plentiful. Much waste has resulted from delay in getting fish to market. The Ministry of Food is seeking to remedy this. Prices are [illegible] to go down this Winter. [illegible] be scarce and dear this [illegible] of the country's eggs [illegible] Russian supplies are [illegible] Winter's prices, whereas [illegible] eggs sold at 5½ pence [illegible] imported eggs at a penny [illegible]

Twenty-five per cent. of the country's fresh meat—beef and lamb, for little fresh pork is obtainable—is home grown. Therefore British prices, which are controlled, will largely depend on American, Argentine and Australian prices.

CANNED GOODS FROM AMERICA.

Most of the country's canned goods come from America—canned fruit, tomatoes, beans, peas—so prices here will depend on purchases made abroad plus freight.

Fresh vegetables, except potatoes are not controlled in price. In small lots potatoes may be had for one and two pence a pound, in larger amounts for less. Fresh vegetables comprising beets, turnips, lettuce, parsley, spinach and cabbage celery is so common, and other vegetables very limited in amount and entirely seasonal. High labor costs have forced up prices all over the country

BUILD BRIDGE AS MEMORIAL TO FIGHTERS

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 5—Pennsylvania has taken the lead of all other States in the Union in providing a suitable memorial for her sons who fought in the World War

A contract has been awarded for the construction of a great memorial bridge, to be erected adjacent to the State Capitol here at a cost of $2,500,000

The bridge will extend from the State Capitol across Capitol Park to Market Hill, where a memorial arch will be erected. Statues of [illegible] of the state will be placed on the arch, bearing the names of [illegible] soldiers, sailors and marines of the State who served in the war

Work will be started on the bridge immediately, and it will require two years to complete the structure.

URGES WOMEN TO BROADEN THEIR WORK

Bishop Lawrence Points to the Many New After-the-War Opportunities

Bishop William Lawrence urged women today to enlarge their new after-the-war opportunities in his address before the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions, in Trinity Church.

The bishop spoke of the influence of war work upon women and how it had broadened their sphere of usefulness in the world.

This new day of opportunity for women was being [illegible] general attention [illegible] at present, the bishop said.

"It means that women are [illegible] not to be content [illegible] of work and follow it wisely in contrast to our senators who should guard their interest.

"Very often we find women choosing some special feature of missionary work and putting their [illegible] effort upon it, often overlooking other interests which require their intelligence and ability.

"The coming woman in church work will not give herself entirely to one aspect of the work, but will broaden her vision so that her interests will be given not only to one phase of missionary work, but to the more general claims of educational work as well as medical work.

"The improvement of the home life is as much an interest in missionary work as the interests of missions in heathen lands.

He characterized the future of women's work in the church as educational, informational and inspirational.

REPUBLICAN SLATE SWEEPS PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—While Congressman J. Hampton Moore and the Republican city and county ticket swept the city at the election, meager returns indicate that Edgar W. Earle, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, has won the minority office of county commissioner.

Harry D. Wood, [illegible] Democrat, ran second for Mayor, overshadowing Joseph S. Mackarnett, former director of supplies in Mayor Smith's Cabinet, who ran as an indepen[illegible] candidate after the primaries. Returns early today indicate Moore's majority will be 125,000.

SAYS DEMOCRATS VOTED TO REPUDIATE POLICIES

Francis J. Finneran, president of the Democratic Club of Massachusetts, has sent the following telegram to Chairman Cummings of the national Democratic committee:

"Massachusetts Democrats in today's election overwhelm ugly repudiated national Democratic administration and its policies. Let it serve as a warning. Reorganize the party at once, repudiate secretary Baker and his policy of Prussianism and universal compulsory military service for our youth."

MOUNTAINS "SLIPPING," SAYS PROFESSOR

Craig Col., Nov. 5—Many square miles of mountains over the western slope are "slipping," according to Professor N. J. Morrill of the Colorado Agricultural College.

Professor Morrill has been watching the phenomenon for several years and says the undulating, [illegible] movement aggregates several feet in the course of a year, the movement being more rapid in the Spring when the soil is soggy and damp from the melting snow.

FIGHT WARTIME 'DRY' LAW IN PROVIDENCE

Brewers, in Test Case, Seek Injunction Restraining Enforcement of the Act

[illegible] Nov. 5—This city today became the battleground on the test of the constitutionality of the wartime prohibition act. [illegible] Michael J. Lynch, representing local brewers, argued the case before Judge Arthur [illegible] of the United States District Court.

[illegible] are a temporary injunction restraining United States Marshal Eaton and Collector of Internal Revenue O'Shaunessey from enforcing the act. The present hearing [illegible] as against national prohibition, merely relating to wartime [illegible].

Attorney Lynch stated in his argument that there is no war emergency and that the brewery that he represents has a capital of $1,000,000.

[illegible] the war, he mentioned, [illegible] said the United States [illegible] tax on beer, which [illegible] their war emergency [illegible] now prohibits them [illegible].

Lynch further stated that the brewers were patriotic American citizens, who had subscribed $250,000 to Liberty Loan bonds. He added that although [illegible] railroads, telephones and telegraphs the government has [illegible] satisfactory compensation. No such proposition had been offered [illegible] to said.

[illegible] of one per cent beer a [illegible] by the government, Lynch claimed was ordinary and not [illegible] all war issues. Lynch said, [illegible] that war-time prohibition [illegible] unconstitutional. Two [illegible] of people are taken away in war-time, which is proper. These are not war-times, Lynch said, and therefore the rights of people should not be taken away in peace-time.

[illegible] of [illegible] were produced in United States Senate by Wadsworth and Sheppard to [illegible] added to [illegible] necessary [illegible] to wear in order to keep up their [illegible]. He maintained in short, [illegible] prohibition was unnecessary, unfair and arbitrary. He [illegible] statistics from prominent [illegible] figures to set forth that 2¾ [illegible] ing. This is what [illegible] brewers want to make in Providence.

[illegible] Assistant Attorney [illegible] assigned W. I. Pierson, [illegible] States District Attorney, argued [illegible] the government. It is expected [illegible] Judge Brown will take the [illegible] under advisement and render a [illegible] later.

We will not cancel our well established sales except in the face of conditions over which we have no control. That is why we have decided to hold this sale at a special price—even though we could sell all the two trouser suits we have and all we expect to get this fall at a higher price. If you could have seen us planning for this sale last spring—if you could have seen us "fighting" for the merchandise ever since, so that we would not be obliged to give up an event counted upon by so many men—you'd understand how important we regard these fixed occasions—and you'd appreciate this opportunity, we feel sure.

Our Semi-Annual Sale of

MEN'S TWO-TROUSER SUITS

(Tailored by Kirschbaum)

STARTS TODAY

The extra pair of trousers almost doubles the life of the suit, for experience shows that the trousers give out long before the coat.

But another consideration is that by having two pairs of trousers one can be worn while the other is being pressed. Wearing them alternately not only keeps up appearances, but prolongs their usefulness. This is better than wearing one pair until it gives out and then starting in on the other pair.

The Materials in these Suits are All 100% Wool

Tested by Kirschbaum Chemists.
Tested by our consulting chemists, Arthur D. Little, Inc., Cambridge which guarantees you an all-wool suit, about which there can be no question as to the quality.

With Two Pairs of Trousers

For $37.50

Many of these suits cost wholesale today as much or more than the price quoted.

But we always have given wonderful values in this event—and we always will or we will not hold the sale.

Colors:

Sizes 34 to 46

One Word More:

We haven't as many suits as we ordered, or as we expect will be called for. Although we hope to continue the sale all week, it will come to a sudden stop as soon as the suits sell out, because we cannot take orders—the manufacturers wouldn't fill them.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, silky and abundant, and look as if a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

THE DEAN MYSTERY

'GRANNY KNOTS' PROOF OF WIFE'S INNOCENCE

By BERT FORD.

The first and last person suspected by the county and State authorities of the murder of Dr. William Kendrick Dean at his mountain home on the outskirts of East Jaffrey, N. H., was his widow.

As she was the only person legally on the premises on the night of August 13, 1918, and as she was known to be of unsound mind, suspicion automatically turned her way, and certain officials stubbornly refuse to eliminate her even in the face of evidence that points elsewhere more convincingly.

White-haired and bent, feeble in mind and body, Mrs. Dean, at the age of sixty-six years, while burdened with her grief, was put through capers, and fortunately she lacked sufficient reasoning power to realize what it was all about.

They compelled her to cover the course which the real assassins took from the barn uphill to the cellar, which they carried the body. They had her tie many knots with rope of various size, and, in her innocence, she tied a "granny" knot every time, and every knot that fastened the sheet and bindings on the body of her murdered husband was what is known as a "granny" knot.

EXONERATED BY KNOTS.

Mrs. Dean, who could not have been held legally culpable even if it happened that she had committed the crime, had cleared herself in her honest ignorance of what they wanted. Those "granny" knots were the finest kind of exoneration.

The only knot she knew how to make was a "granny," experiment as they may, and she had not been permitted near enough to the body, drawn dripping from the cistern, to see what nature of knots secured the bedding bag and the horse blanket and cut around her poor husband's hands, knees and ankles.

The county and State officials had a perfect right to do what they did. It was their duty to examine every suspect and to exhaust every suspicion.

What the majority of the people of East Jaffrey objected to was the apparent tendency of certain officials to cling to the Mrs. Dean hypothesis after having been provided with stronger ones against other suspects.

The selectmen, and other prominent citizens of East Jaffrey and residents of surrounding towns, call attention to the fact that after the officials engaged by the county and state had tested out that Mrs. Dean was physically and mentally incapable of committing such a crime, they refused to clear her and continued to search for any excuse that they could find that she might have done the deed.

PUZZLING FEATURE.

"The puzzling feature of the case," they contend, "is the most unsuspected and puzzling feature of the case.

None of the doctors or nurses who had any dealings with Mrs. Dean suspected her. They all scouted the theory. So did all those longest acquainted with Dr. and Mrs. Dean, but public sentiment is no guide on which to weigh evidence in a murder case. Juries are the only judges when cold facts are involved.

It is agreed by both factions that Mrs. Dean was of unsound mind. That it is a matter concerning that with suffering from her form of mental impairment could have contrived enough to cover as well as she had any hand in the crime. Witness after witness who arrived at the Dean farm on the morning the tragedy was discovered learned only one thing from Mrs. Dean that would warrant the slightest suspicion against her.

SHE WAS MUCH TALK AT THE OUTSET.

She was much talk at the outset about telephone conversation with Mrs. Dean was alleged to have had with Charles L. Hinds, janitor of the local bank, on the morning that her husband was reported missing. Mrs. Dean was quoted as having told her husband was dead and that she was a widow.

HER DENIES PHONE TALK.

Neither Hinds was credited with having said that Mrs. Dean told him that she was the widow. Hinds said he denied it when examined by the Department of Justice agents in Boston. Hinds said he did not talk with Mrs. Dean over the telephone that morning at all, and that he learned of the murder from somebody who telephoned from the Dearborn home.

Yet for some unaccountable reason certain officials could not seem to rid their mind of that "Mrs. Dean" rumor and they thought it over so much that it actually operated against Mrs. Dean although there was no foundation for it.

Another fact on record is that the report was untrue. He told the agents of the United States Department of Justice so.

But there is conflict on this point in the personal appearance of the record of Cheshire county.

A statement signed by Mrs. Dean which appears among the county records in the case, Mrs. Dean said, "I then called up Mr. Hinds by the telephone, but he said he did not know where he was. I called up my husband on the last boat, but that I felt that he had died."

MRS. DEAN'S STATEMENT.

Mrs. Dean's full statement at that time follows:

"On Tuesday, August 13, my husband went down to Jaffrey and ordered the provisions. He usually goes to Goodnow's. He got nothing very heavier. He gets fruit from Goodnow's. My medicine is lemons. He also brought home bread and butter and crackers. He said he was going to see Mrs. Rich a sister that night. He told me when he came home that he had seen the Riches at their home.

"He came [illegible] getting there at 5:30 p. m. [illegible] o'clock (that time). I took him out [illegible] from the wagon and put it in the barn. He gave the bouquet of [illegible] to me, which I put in water, then he drove over to the barn and I lit up the house. I then came back and took off [illegible] good black clothes and put [illegible] clothes on and came down and [illegible] something to eat, bread and butter and milk, and then he smoked a cigarette and then got his pails, the strainer pail [illegible], and then he brought pail full of feed for [illegible] cows. After Dean always fed [illegible] to bull calf.

SAW HIM GO AWAY.

"I saw him go away [illegible] lantern toward the barn. When he went to the barn he had on a pair of knee-length khaki pants, a white shirt, collar and tie, but no cap on. He said he had been feeling bad that day. He had pains in his body and in his head. He went to the barn at 6 p. m. (The same hour she told everybody that called the first morning before it's body was found) and said that he would be back at twelve and said 'Now you be ready with some food.' So I fixed some soup for him and had it all nice and ready for him, and I lay down and waited for him to come.

"I looked to see him coming, but he did not come. I kept awake all night and he did not come, but at 8 a. m. I went out to the barn, and I went in and found the lantern. It was standing nicely, but plenty of oil in it, as I shook it to see, and it was half full. I also found the feed pail which he took over with milk for the boy cow, although another bins and which (sagatwash) pail which he had taken out to the barn during the day, but could not find the strainer pail anywhere.

"I brought the lantern and blue pail back to the house. I went around the house, which was occupied by Mr. Colfelt, and called, 'Billy! Billy!' I thought he might have gone in there and fallen asleep. I looked in all the wells and holes about the yard. I then went to the house and looked all around to see if he were upstairs. No. I had my breakfast. I had crackers and milk. I mix it with egg and sugar and water and a lot of men came to eat the hay.

"CALLED MR. RICH."

"I told them about Billy being gone and they said they would go and look for him. I then called up Mr. Rich by the telephone, but he said he did not know where he was. I told him that I felt he had died. I then called up Mrs. Hartshell and told her that Dr. Dean was gone and I am afraid he has died. I thought he would grow there. Billy had some money with him. He received [illegible] from Mr. Colfelt and Mr. Colfelt did not pay him for the last month. The Colfelts were very [illegible] here ten months a week ago. Billy did not have any trouble with them. They had an auto which they kept in the barn, one cow and three horses. Mrs. Colfelt came to see me frequently. She was also up to see me [illegible] She thought Billy was dead overtime I told her I had seen him, some bad spells. I think [illegible] dead, because he would not [illegible] me. He was always nice and he knows if he stayed away that [illegible] worry me.

"I never expect to see him again. I think he died, but I cannot see [illegible]

Diamond Brooch, 2 Years Lost, Has Been Found

Who lost a diamond brooch in Boston two years ago? It is found! A remarkable advertisement to that effect appeared today in a Boston paper. Query. Why did the finder wait two years? Did it take two years for his conscience to dictate? There are many other possibilities.

Perhaps he has only just found the pin in an old pocket or discarded bag, as stranger things have happened. Perhaps the one who found the pin has died, and some more scrupulous member of the family would make restitution. Possibly the finder thought the pin was "phony" and has only just learned its value. Or the pin may have been an exact duplicate of [illegible] actually belonging to the finder, and conscience in a stranger [illegible] has only just found out that [illegible] had died. I then called up Mrs. Hartshell and told her that Dr. Dean was gone and I am afraid he has died. I thought he would grow there. Billy had some money with him. He received [illegible] from Mr. Colfelt and Mr. Colfelt did not pay him for the last month. The Colfelts were very [illegible] here ten months a week ago. Billy did not have any trouble with them. You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver.

It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and intestines work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or corrected.

If you are one of the many unfortunates [illegible] who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right today and start taking it.

Give it a trial for a week or two and just see how much better you feel, how quickly your sluggish bowels will become as regular as clock work, how your coated tongue clears up and your good, old-time appetite returns. See how splendidly your food will digest and how your energy, "pep" and "ginger" revive.

Just try it.

You take no risk whatever for Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is only 25c a box, enough to last twenty-five days, and it must help and benefit you to your entire satisfaction, or money returned.

Five million boxes are sold every year.—Go Follow NR Tablets and be taken by selling people every day—that's the best proof of its merits. Nature's Remedy is the best and safest thing you can take for biliousness, constipation, indigestion and similar complaints. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

PREST-O-LITE TO AID BATTERY SHORTAGE

Emergency Service to Car Owners Keynote of Distributors' Convention

Emergency service to car owners is the keynote at Prest-O-Lite Battery Convention.

More than fifty New England cities were represented by Prest-O-Lite storage battery distributors assembled in convention at Hotel Brunswick this week. A special call for this convention was issued to anticipate unusual demands upon service station facilities for 1920, due to the fact that a shortage of storage batteries is predicted because of the enormous automobile output scheduled for the coming year.

DEMAND HEAVY.

"The number of cars to be placed on the market during 1920 is startling," said F. A. Wilson Lawrence, vice-president of the Prest-O-Lite Company, who is in charge of the convention. "All storage battery manufacturers have planned big increases in output for 1920, but the total production can hardly equal the demand. Owing to this fact that the Prest-O-Lite Company has an enormous volume of business for the equipment of new cars at the factory with storage batteries, we have had to increase our production 150 per cent for 1920.

"We shall have to supply batteries for considerably more than one million cars during the coming year. To serve, New England alone will take hundreds of thousands of batteries, so we have called our distributors together to devise ways and means of handling the situation to the satisfaction of New England car owners.

"The public is beginning to realize how completely the automobile depends upon its electrical system for satisfactory ignition and lighting. More and more the battery service station is called upon to meet emergency needs in New England, owing to the fine roads you have and the tremendous amount of touring that is done here.

OFFER MINUTE SERVICE.

"We are, therefore, helping our service stations to analyze those needs and put the service station in the class of a local fire department, ready to serve at any minute."

Other officers of the Prest-O-Lite organization attending the convention are, H. F. Reiss, secretary, R. W. Clark, sales manager, and O. Northeby, manager of acetylene tank division. J. N. Pauver, a well-known storage battery distributor, of Detroit, will also address the convention.

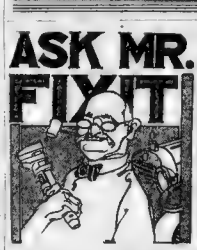
ASK MR. FIXIT



Mr. Fixit: I have an old Selden touring car with a low tension magneto. I wish to equip with a high tension. How do I go about it?—C. F. A., Yale Falls, R. I.

[Low tension magneto is of standard make you can put on the Dixie without any change of timing but in all probability you will have a little trouble with the coupling unless your old magneto has a tapered shaft. Be careful that you set your new magneto on the same relative position on your shaft as the old one.

Mr. Fixit: I have a Big Six Buick D-6 that skips. I have had the carbon removed and have changed the spark plugs many times. Have had new piston rings put in, have done everything any mechanic could think of and still it misses gradually fills up with carbon and the cylinders skip one after another. I clean it out again, but no use. Can you tell me what ails it?—Worcester, JULIEN T. D.

[Since your car carbonizes so quickly, the oil must be getting by the rings, and if you have put in new ones the only answer is that you have a bad fit in the rings. This oil coming through them may cause the missing or it may come from a worn condition of the breaker in the arm in the Delco head. This would cause a skip, also. Check this up and make sure that your electrical system is delivering a good spark to the plugs.

Hear Mr. Fixit: I took off the timer of my Ford touring, 1918, and replaced new set. Now I have to put the spark lever three quarters of the way down the quadrant to start it and it cannot be retarded without the motor stopping. At this position the motor runs well, but if the gas lever is retarded much the engine beats up; otherwise the car runs finely. Did I put the roller on right and which way does the timer rod shift, as it now shifts the fan belt?—FRANKLIN D. East Dedham.

[You have probably put the roller on, as the boy said, "blind side foremost," and this would throw the timer off about one-half turn which would seem to account for the way your motor acts. It makes the spark too late. With the spark retarded fully the little lug on the timer through which the controller rod passes should be straight up and down. If you have not a regular Ford timer it would probably throw the timer rod out of adjustment and this would have to be regulated. Look at some other Ford car and see how the roller is set on and compare yours to see if you have it on right.

Mr. Fixit will answer questions concerning car troubles through this column each Wednesday. Send no stamps for reply. All answers will be through this paper.

DENBY TRUCKS LAUDED FOR SERVICE

West P. Woodbridge, of the Woodbridge Company, Inc., local Denby distributors, is in constant touch with his owners in order to carry up on the service being done by Denby trucks.

"We are in daily receipt of letters, 'phone communications from our owners in response to our inquiries, and are glad to find that Denby trucks are standing up and giving satisfaction. Our monthly free inspection to owners and our large and well-equipped service station is a big feature in our selling campaign.

"We have always insisted on carrying a large stock of parts and supplies so that with our night and day service we can save our owners from big financial loss usually attending the laying up of a truck for repairs.

"The demand for heavy duty trucks continues which shows that the building boom in Massachusetts is growing each day. Our line is such that we are able to meet the demands of practically every user of a motor truck."

DORTS ENJOYING RECORD N. E. SALES

Demand Has Increased Where Only Trainloads Can Supply Heavy Trade

In the last thirty days the Utterback-Gleason Company, distributors for Dort cars, has received three heavy train loads of Dorts. Mr Gleason is making every effort to persuade the Dort factory of Flint, Mich., to send on addit onal train loads as rapidly as possible.

The demand for the Dort throughout New England has grown in such great rapidity that nothing less than train load shipments will enable the Utterback-Gleason Company to keep up with the demand," says Mr Gleason.

In talking with the Dort dealers throughout New England last week Mr Gleason was able to show many of Dort owners in the Boston district have made many miles on the reference board as showing for themselves. DARTMOUTH-PENN GAME IS WEEK'S FOOTBALL FEATURE

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Bob Folwell, coach of the University of Pennsylvania football eleven, and now busily engaged in press-agenting himself and impressing on the public his football system, is doing a rotten job

He gets enough i's, My's and Me's in his dope—perhaps one or two more than is necessary—but in other respects his stuff is all wet

For instance in a yarn sent out just before Penn State licked Bob's team Bob used no less than twenty I's, my's and me's, but disagged them on such remarks as

"The secret of the strength of my team is that [illegible] has mastered my system."

Now I, Bob, didn't said that one might be [illegible] the reason for his team's defeat was its failure to master Bob's system.

Then [illegible] material. Bob writes

"The [illegible] twenty-four of my substitutes [illegible] varsity and even thirty-six to hold it."

DOPE SHATTERED

That might have gone for Bob if everybody [illegible] a few days later that only seven of Bob's Reserves men not my's, old but beat Bob's varsity and now because of Bob's press [illegible] believe that [illegible] must be awful.

Bob did have a wonderful opportunity to [illegible] public interest with his stuff—as it has, in fact—for as yet he has [illegible] answered a more or less general [illegible] concerning the number of [illegible] Pennsylvania athletes [illegible] to [illegible] varsity football. Unless recollection has an off day Pennsylvania men are supposed to be elected by the executive residence rule which allows men to play but three years of varsity football, yet several of his men are serving their fourth year on his varsity team, and it has been rumored that one or two others have exceeded that number of years by football years when their experience at other colleges is counted in.

SOUGHT UNBEATEN RIVAL.

All season long Bob has been crying to meet an unbeaten team. They say tears rolled [illegible] when he learned Penn State had been defeated by Dartmouth, and Pittsburgh had bowed to Syracuse.

"I'm sorry," he remarked in one of his press quotations, "that Penn State and Pitt were beaten, since we are to play them."

Whether this same sadness prevails now that a team has been found not to one of these beaten teams, has not been made known in his recent utterances. If it does not, he is keeping a lotus in his weeping this week for Penn's opponent Saturday, is, as yet, an unbeaten team.

There is no question that Bob has some excellent and long-experienced football material at his command, and there is no question that, despite certain longer-than-usual [illegible] on the part of several of his stars, his team will take the field against Dartmouth

A BANNER ATTRACTION.

Dartmouth does not protest the eligibility of any players, was a reply sent [illegible] Graduate Manager [illegible] of Dartmouth. When [illegible] was put to him. Such [illegible] the approaching Dartmouth-Pennsylvania game is the Pole Grounds stands out as the banner attraction of the week in the point of general interest.

That Dartmouth will rule the favorite is certain. Its success and Pennsylvania's failure against Penn State would balance the odds if there were no other consideration. But [illegible] to certainty in Dartmouth minds that its team will [illegible] through a winner's path.

Dartmouth scouts, who have been looking over the Penn State varsity in Penn State games this season were not surprised at the outcome of the game between [illegible] Keystone State schools. They knew Penney's attack depended largely on [illegible] off tackle and around the ends, and they knew Penn State possessed in Higgins, Dorrance and Captain Cullum, his wingmate, the two men who could spoil Penney's efforts, and so it proved when the teams met.

STRONG AT TACKLE.

Dartmouth does not boast the end-playing quality of the Penn State team. The Green has the pace of a wingman [illegible] but [illegible] coached, but no set possessing that uncanny ability found in men like Higgins, who are [illegible] to play the wings. But Dartmouth does possess two crackerjack tackles in Murphy and Sonnenburg and with their assistances the Green hopes to squelch Penney's end-running attack before it passes the scrimmage line.

Penney, like almost every team Dartmouth has met this season will outweigh the Green in the centre of its line and in the backfield. It is according to those "in the know" to read certain comments on the giants in the centre of Dartmouth's line and in its backfield. Crisp, against whom Colgate directed the bulk of its attack, probably is the lightest guard playing on a leading football team. He tips the scales at the tremendous weight of just 168 pounds. Bill Cunningham, the Dartmouth centre, goes him only four pounds better, while "Swede" Youngstrom, who has been referred to as a mastadon or a Goliath, weighs almost 240. In Dartmouth's "monumental" backfield there are three men who range in weight from 163 to 168 pounds.

PERSONALITY AND SPIRIT.

Where Dartmouth shows to advantage is in the personality and spirit of its team. Based on the old [illegible] of football standards, the Green [illegible] three players—Murphy, Sonnenburg and Robertson—but where [illegible] lacking there is a triple [illegible] called "guts" and [illegible] fiance of intelligent [illegible] has made and probably will make [illegible] and successful use.

If Dartmouth wins from Pennsylvania, it will be through well-directed strategy supported by those four exceptions football players [illegible] backed up by a team whose mental attitude and seemingly unconquerable spirit constitutes the most refreshing element than far disclosed during the present football season

STAR SHOOTER FAILS TO SHOW AT TRAPS

By PETER P. CARNEY.

Professional trapshooters are having a better season than in many years past. With the revival of shooting interest the professionals have to some extent awakened, too, and better scores have resulted.

One of the veterans who always good high in the scores year after year

Lester German—[illegible] seem to break him [illegible] during this year. He is located in Virginia and apparently does little shooting. He has been at "Pop" Heikes' traphouse for nearly years and it doesn't seem natural to write about the [illegible] and leave him out, so we brought him in.

Rush Razee of Nebraska is on top in the average race in this section this year. The only bad feature of the professional, who is seeking glory is that when his average becomes high enough to command a lot of shooting to beat he stops shooting and rests on his laurels. When Rush got [illegible] mit, he laid back [illegible] and [illegible] when [illegible] could beat him.

Homer Clark of Illinois is not on Razee's level but we know that he has a tedious task to overhaul him.

Here are the names and averages of the various State leaders (professionals) who have shot at 1750 or more registered targets:

JAMAICA KID DANGEROUS BUT NORFOLK WINS

By JACK CONWAY.

Jamaica Kid was unable to score with the blow which knocked down Jack Dempsey, and as a result he was outpointed in his twelve-round bout with Kid Norfolk at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Grand Opera House. Norfolk had a decided margin in his favor when festivities ended

Jamaica Kid was always a dangerous customer. He kept letting drive with deadly left and right hand blows, any of which had enough force to fell the average heavyweight. Norfolk, however, managed to get out of the way of his rival's smashes, either by clever blocking or sidestepping.

For a bout between heavyweights, it was one of the fastest held in this city for many months. Both men realized they would have to keep traveling at top speed at all times to win the favor of the crowd. And they scored with a bang.

The Jamaica Kid did his best work in the first three rounds. He kept at close quarters most of the time and scored with damaging blows to the head and body.

EMULATED DEMPSEY.

When the bell sounds at the opening of the first round, the Jamaica Kid left his corner with the speed of a lightweight. He apparently remembered that Jack Dempsey recently won the championship from Willard by warming with a right-hand punch in the very opening session of their bout.

Norfolk tried to box cleverly, but he was unsuccessful in his attempts to keep the Jamaica Kid at bay. The latter broke down his opponent's defence and piled up a comfortable lead.

Norfolk then resorted to slugging himself, and had fair success. It was the Jamaica Kid's round.

Norfolk landed at a merry clip in the second frame. The Jamaica Kid was crowding him at all times but Leo Flynn's sturdy warrior managed to pile up enough points to get an even break for the round.

CONTINUES RUSHING.

In the third session, Jamaica Kid continued his rushing tactics. He also showed more shift, hooking his left his opponent's head and body. Norfolk used his left effectively and also managed to get out of the way of many of his opponent's blows. The result was he earned the honors for the round.

Jamaica Kid's left hook was a winner in the fifth chapter. He scored repeatedly with this blow and was breezing along gaily when the dear old chimes sent the husky gladiators to their corners. Jamaica Kid grabbed all the blue ribbons during this session. He continued his whirlwind work in the sixth frame and had his opponent feeling like the C. O. D. loaders.

There Norfolk started to apparently do his conscientious duty. Jamaica Kid had grabbed enough first by acting as a sparring partner for Jack Dempsey.

NORFOLK SPEEDS UP.

This Day in History—November 5, 1919

THIS is the anniversary of the arrest of the conspirators in the famous Gunpowder Plot in 1605, by which the wiping out of Parliament was frustrated. The plot was betrayed by one of its originators. Most of the conspirators were executed, and November 5 is still known as Guy Fawkes Day in Britain.

Chicken Croquette

Prepare some chicken hash as described in No. 3 recipe of this series. Fry in butter some chopped onions and blanched fresh mushroom, mix with the chicken and add a pint of good cream sauce, season with salt, pepper and a little grated nutmeg, let simmer for a few minutes, thicken with four egg yolks, and remove in dish allowing to cool off. Divide into parts weighing about four ounces, shape them any form you fancy, roll in flour, then dip in raw egg previously beaten a little, and then roll in breadcrumbs; level with a knife and fry in hot fat. Dry on a cloth and serve on a napkin.

PRICE ADVANCE IN BOSTON MARKET

Coppers and New England Rails Show Improvement During Forenoon

At the opening of the Boston market prices advanced, indicating the satisfaction with which the election was received in the financial district in his city. Almost every price change in the start was an advance. Although in a majority of instances gains were fractions a number of issues went up a point or more. Shortly after included Copper Range, Calumet and Arizona, Quincy, United Fruit, Boston & Maine, New Haven, Elder, Swift & Co. and Gray & Davis. United Shoe advanced the second being up three points at its morning highest.

The improvement in New England rails and coppers was not based on anything new in the basic situation of either but was rather a reflection of cheerful mood of the moment.

Parish & Bingham and Gray & Davis were the most active stocks in the auto accessory class, while National Leather and Elder were also traded in extensively. Packing issues were strong as a group.

Highest record prices were established by Fairbanks and Elder.

Among issues declining during the morning were Pond Creek, U. S. Smelting, National Leather and Walworth. They reached from fractions to a little more than a point.

Superior and Boston was an active and strong low-priced copper.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Nov. 5.—A big bullish movement at the cotton market opening sent prices to new high records. Sentiment was influenced by strength in New Orleans, Liverpool and in securities. At the end of fifteen minutes the market was still active, with December ranging 34.10 or 85 points above Monday's close. Opening prices were: December, 33.90 to 33.95; Jan. 33.75 to 33.77; March, 33.80 to 33.85; May, 34.20 to 34.25; July, 33.30 to 33.35; Oct. 33.50 to 33.55.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Corn opened 3c to 5c higher, oats were 2c higher, and provisions opened higher. Opening prices were: Corn—December, 1.36¾; May, 1.39¾; oats—December, 73; May, 76. Lard—January, 29.25. Ribs Jan. 29.50 to 30.; Mar. 30.75 to 30.85. Pork—January, 35.50 to 35.75; May, 36.50 to 36.75.

RAIL AND STEEL ISSUES ARE FEATURES

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at noon, having retained most of early gains as a rule. The market, in fact, had been strong all the morning. Steels and equipments led during the first hour, while rails were prominent in the second. Issues to sell at highest record prices were Bethlehem Steel Sparrow, International Paper and American Car and Foundry and General Motors. Republic and Lackawanna were the weakest steels. At its highest General Motor sold at 408¼, up 4¼ from Wednesday's close, and a half at its best.

Call money opened at 10 per cent. The market was active, morning transactions totalling 778,800 shares.

MODERATE GAINS AT OPENING.

The market was strong at the opening. Wall Street being pleased by Cox's election returns from the country at large, but especially over those from Massachusetts. While the advance included almost all active stocks, gains were moderate on the whole. Steels and equipments were early leaders. Many issues were advanced from one to nearly five points gain within a few minutes, among those in the most demand being Crucible, Railway Steel Springs, American Car & Foundry, General Motors, Mexican Petroleum, U. S. Rubber and International Paper. Coppers were strongest. Utah advancing a point, while a number of rivals made small gains. Buying orders accumulated in considerable volume overnight and demand for stocks was rather brisk when business began. Offerings were in sufficient quantity, however, to prevent any sensational advance. Election results had been discounted to a considerable extent evidently.

REDISCOUNT RATE ADVANCED.

While something of the kind was expected, the advance in re-discount rates ordered by Federal Reserve Bank directors, was of as much importance to stock market speculators as election results. It is regarded in most quarters as an effort to anp., check brakes to inflation in security values. According to one financial commentator: "In some of the most influential quarters it is considered doubtful if it will have more than a sentimental effect." Still some others are of the opinion that it prevented prices from soaring when exchanges reopened today.

The turnover in the New York money market on Monday is estimated at about $40,000,000. About $37,000,000 was loaned at 10 per cent, and about $3,000,000 at 6 per cent. At the close of the stock market the call rate dropped to 2 per cent. It is said that further recovery could be obtained at the final rate.

THE BAY STATE ELECTION.

In regard to the overwhelming vote for Governor Coolidge, the Boston Financial News says in a New York communication:

"Before the opening of this morning it was conceded in bearish, as well as in other circles, that his re-election by a tremendous majority was one of the most important events in this country for a long time; it was pointed out that the good citizens of Massachusetts, who obviously are decidedly in the majority, are in favor of law and order. Prominent interests add also that unquestionably, the success of the Massachusetts election would have an important bearing upon the general labor situation in this country and ought to be a factor in the present bituminous coal strike and in other labor disturbances."

SAYS EXTRAVAGANCE IS A PROSPERITY SIGN

New York, Nov. 4.—In commenting upon the general financial situation, W. L. Hensley of E. W. Wagner & Co. said:

"While general business has had a setback because of sporadic labor upheavals there is no much liquid wealth in the country that prosperity shows on every hand. Students of economics, however, question why, for our present prosperity is of the enduring kind. It requires safe stress of normal acumen to foresee that the craze for luxuries and the orgy of spending by wage-earners based on unparalled people who are receiving unprecedentedly high pay cannot continue indefinitely. It appears that this extravagance expresses much of the prosperity that is now so much in evidence, and it is, therefore, giving conservative business men more or less concern.

HARVARD FUND TOTAL NOW $9,061,323

Substantial Contributions from Smaller Cities and Towns Boost Endowment Figures

The sixth week of the campaign for the Harvard Endowment Fund began today with more than nine million dollars subscribed and a long stride made toward the ten-million dollar mark. That substantial contributions have been coming in from cities and towns throughout Boston and New York is not regarded as surprising, in view of the fact that of the 36,000 graduates who have yet to be recorded, only 20,000 reside outside the two large cities.

Boston	$5,614,704
New York	3,275,868
Outside	170,751
Total	$9,061,323

Credit for securing subscriptions for the Boston quota during the past week is given to the teams headed by the following captains: Dr. E. A. Crockett, medical; Dr. H. C. Ballentine, medical; W. P. Homans, manufacturing; Dr. A. E. Crosbie, medical; Edward Burlingame, law; Prof. Roscoe H. Spaulding, music and art; H. F. Hurlburt, Jr., law; A. W. Millions for Smokes

That the American people are burning up much money is shown by the sales of tobacco products for the October those of the United Cigar Stores totalled $5,618,000, which is an increase of $1,241,000 compared with the total of the corresponding month of last year. The gain is not due alone to increased consumption, as higher prices were also a factor.

McCrory Stores Sales

September sales of the McCrory Stores Corporation totalled $825,764, compared with $776,521 for the corresponding 1918 month. The increase was 19.22 per cent. For nine months the total was $7,241,600 compared with $6,488,524. The increase was 16.83 per cent.

Dance to Aid McKinnon

A benefit dance will be held this evening in Bethesda Hall, West Broadway, South Boston, the proceeds of which will be given to Frank "Chubby" McKinnon, well known athlete, who is confined to a hospital suffering from an injury to his spine. A number of well-known young men, including John Donovan and William Breen, are in charge of the affair.

What the Coolidge Vote Means When Analyzed

The election returns show the re-election of Governor Coolidge by a sweeping majority. His great gain in the country vote was anticipated, but his net gain in the City of Boston was entirely unexpected. The gain in the country on the law and order issue was accountable and was anticipated by both sides. The Republican reserve vote was also anticipated.

This would give to the Governor at least his normal Republican plurality in the State; the only doubt in the situation was how organized labor would regard the issues of the campaign.

Would it follow the direction indicated by many of its leaders and consider that Governor Coolidge had thrown down a challenge to them or would it consider that it was not involved in the issue or in any of the issues and therefore divide according to old and established predelictions?

Governor Coolidge certainly did not flaunt any challenge in the face of organized labor. Indeed he courted their support by advertisements more openly than did his opponent, Mr. Long, and Henry B. Endicott, in whom labor has had deservedly the greatest confidence, appealed to them not to make any of the issues of the campaign their issue.

It is known by those on the inside that a majority of the rank and file of organized labor during the policemen's strike were opposed to having the police force join the American Federation of Labor for a great many reasons which appeared strong to them. The results of the election make it clear that a curious thing happened. Organized labor saw nothing in the issues of the campaign to get excited about, while that class in the community who dislike organized labor became greatly excited, and did their utmost in an imaginary contest with organized labor.

It is often easy to mistake the political declaration of the leaders of organized labor for the political opinions of its rank and file. People often consider the power of a labor leader over his men during a strike to be interchangeable with his power over those men concerning a political question.

The same leader speaks with a totally different character when he speaks as a politician and when he speaks as an industrial leader concerning an organization question. He has very little influence over his followers on a political question, nor indeed is he supposed to have any. Speaking of the political power of labor leaders as such, William Randolph Hearst recently said:

"You say that the working people will not be satisfied with the reforms which we all admit are needed but which merely the majority want. My opinion is that the agitating element of the working classes count for very little politically in this country.

"In the first place, they are a small minority, and in the second place, they do not hold together even as a minority. They are divided up into various lines, each section with a political panacea in which they firmly believe and which they consider the only important thing to be achieved.

"The result is a Labor Party, and a Socialist Labor Party and a Labor Democratic Party and a Union Labor Party, and various other divisions, all so ineffective as to be negligible.

"It is not only impossible to get the labor people to unite, as they should, with the farmers and the other producing classes, but it is even impossible to get them to unite among themselves. Consequently, they lose their power; and consequently their opinion, even if it could be determined, is of comparatively small importance politically."

Mr. Long ran upon a good platform, but it was overshadowed by the police issue and by the cry of law and order which that issue enabled his opponent to raise against him. That issue prevented the American from taking the field in behalf of candidates who were involved by that issue.

But the vote of Boston is a surprise of surprises. In some respects the vote of Boston is typical of the vote in other cities with a population of the character of Boston. It cannot be accounted for except upon the grounds that Democrats are profoundly disgusted with the Democratic party generally and with the national Democratic administration in particular.

The abandonment by the President of all his ideals in the League of Nations; the abandonment of all constructive policies in his address to Congress; the abandonment by the President of his progressive supporters and his seeking of support for his new policies from the great financial interests; speeches like that of Senator Williams of Mississippi, all conspire to disgust Democrats with their party.

We should not be surprised to find that this feeling runs throughout the country. It is certainly no uncommon thing to meet lifelong Democrats on the street who vigorously declare that they will never vote the Democratic ticket again.

Where There's a Will to Sell Good Bonds There's a Way

State bonds intended to be used as capital for the State Bank of North Dakota were recently submitted to private underwriting and rejected, ostensibly because of a lawsuit attacking their constitutionality.

We say "ostensibly," because the Federal District Court has ruled that the bond issue is constitutional, and there is no question that the State of North Dakota has assets enough to secure a $3,000,000 bond issue.

The fact that a purpose of the issue is to organize public banking in competition with private banking and public manufacturing and trading in opposition to private enterprise or private monopoly, and that private monopoly is angry at this threat of competition, may be the real reason for its rejection by private banking and bond houses.

Whatever the motive, the rejection will not long delay the sale of the bond issue, for North Dakota may follow the lead of the city of St. Paul and open a direct-to-the-people buying and selling agency of its own, as Philadelphia was forced to do some years ago.

Six years ago St. Paul, dissatisfied with the private bids for its bond issues, learned that it could use the office of its Sinking Fund Commissioner as a so-called "City Bank," where citizens, by depositing sums in multiples of $10, could purchase certificates of part ownership in city bonds bearing interest at 4 per cent, and redeemable upon demand.

Begun on technical authority, this plan was later approved by a three-to-one vote of the people, and is in successful operation today, with an excess of deposits over withdrawals ranging close the $2,500,000 mark.

man who put that project through was William B. Colver, Trade Commissioner. The authorities at Bismarck, less informed about it,

More Truth Than Poetry

WHY CAN'T PREACHERS BE REASONABLE?

By S. E. KISER

IT'S an outrage, really, shocking, and a scandal!
It has filled our congregation with dismay;
In the boldest, plainest language Parson Randall
Has informed us that he wants a raise of pay!

HOW can a preacher be so worldly-minded?
We fear that he has let himself be blinded
By wanting things he used to say were trash.

WHAT if we pay our butler higher wages
Than he has been permitted to receive?
It has been the custom always through the ages

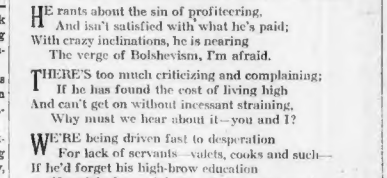
If he can't get on with what he is receiving,
Let him look around for other things to do.

LET him battle, if our butlers make him jealous—
Good butlers are becoming hard to find;
Why will he be so silly as to tell us
Things that he knows will spoil our peace of mind?

HE rants about the sin of profiteering,
And isn't satisfied with what he's paid;
With crazy inclinations, he is nearing
The verge of Bolshevism, I'm afraid.

THERE'S too much criticizing and complaining;
If he has found the cost of living high
And can't get on without incessant straining,
Why must we hear about it—you and I?

WE'RE being driven fast to desperation
For lack of servants—valets, cooks and such—
If he'd forget his high-brow education
He might be useful where he's needed much.



Stars and Stripes

The fool seldom keeps his foolishness to himself.

Every wife imagines that she could manage the other woman's husband.

The fellows who have the price usually kick the most at the high cost of living.

The chap who can wear a ready-made suit that does not look as though it was cut for the other fellow need not worry so much about the high cost of living.

OR THE Board of Aldermen.
OR SOMEBODY in New York.
AND I want to ask them.
WHO IT was.
OR WHERE is it.
OR WHY is it.
THAT ON Sunday night.
AT THE theatres.
THEY HAVE sacred concerts.
INSTEAD OF shows.
AND I want to tell them.
THAT FOR three years.
I HAVE been here.
In NEW York City.
AND IN all that time.
UNTIL THE other night.
I HAD never attended.
A SACRED concert.
ON SUNDAY night.
AND THEN I went.
AND YOU won't believe me.
BUT IT'S true.
THAT ONE of the numbers.
AT THE sacred concert.
WAS SOPHIE Tucker.
AND I ask you.
MR. "AL" Smith.

OF SELLING whiskey.
OR THE sacred calling.
OF MURDERING people.
AND I want to ask you.
WHEN THERE are shows.
LIKE "LIGHTNIN'." AND "BUDDIES."
AND "CLARENCE."
IF IT isn't silly.
TO HAVE "sacred" concerts.
INSTEAD OF shows.
AND JUST for myself.
I DON'T want them at all.
BECAUSE I think the actors.
OUGHT TO have a day off.

I THANK YOU.

NEVER HAS TO SAY THAT SHE IS A "LADY"

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

SHE was a husky villainess, stout and tightly corseted, and her dress creaked audibly every time she breathed. She rattled with more chains than the Prisoner of Chillon ever carried, and was decorated with a number of assorted sizes of off-color diamonds.

She sat down next to me in the street car and immediately put her hands on her hips. This caused her to dig a massive elbow into me, a fact to which she remained serenely indifferent.

I crouched down in the corner of the seat, almost getting out of the window in my efforts to escape that prodding elbow, but it was no use. I bore the infliction in silence for a few moments, and then I asked myself, Why?

So I said politely, "Madame will you kindly take your elbow out of my ribs. It doesn't add to my happiness."

She bounced about in her seat and glared at me. I stared back. If you just stare back steadily and insolently you can cow these big brutes every time. Then she began to mutter to herself, and I caught the phrases, "Such impertinence!" and "I hope I'm a lady!"

Repeated It

She repeated this last several times. "I hope I'm a lady!" I could have told her that her hopes were vain; she was not one and never would be. But she had removed her elbow, which was remarkably sharp for one so well cushioned, and that was all I wanted.

I don't care what the other fellow does; his manners and his morals are entirely his own affairs. But when he encroaches on my rights then I protest.

Yet that is a horrible phrase, "I hope I am a lady," and it is a dead give-away to the woman who uses it. It shouts to the heavens that she is not one, or she would never dream of asserting the fact.

A woman who is pretty or good, or both, does not have to go about announcing her charm and virtues. If she does the innocent bystander becomes suspicious. At once he begins to wonder if her beauty has not been bought at the drug store, or if her goodness has not already been the subject of doubt.

It is a curious idea, and it seems to be held by a large proportion of the feminine population. The conception of a "lady" to various minds seems to be that of a rather brittle piece of bric-a-brac which is carefully dusted and set on the shelves for ornament.

It is a false ideal and a stupid one, and, thank heaven, it is slowly vanishing. But it has kept many women who might otherwise have found an outlet for their real powers and abilities in the position of unhappy and useless dependents.

Quite as Bad

I wish there were some other phrase than "lady." "Gentlewoman" is quite as bad. They have both been so misused and corrupted by the various meanings attached to them that they stand for very little that is definite or real.

There are women in high positions who are not ladies. There are women in very lowly ones—women who have had very few advantages—who bear the indelible stamp of that distinction. Why? Because they are kind and considerate of others, and speak and act from an instinctive fineness of feeling. Whatever seems necessary for them to do, provided it is honest and useful, they do, and add dignity to the accomplishment of their task, no matter if it is a so-called menial service.

The one woman never considers it necessary to assert that she is a "lady." The fact speaks quite plainly for itself.

TRIES TO INSURE DAUGHTER'S HAPPINESS

In order that her beautiful daughter, heiress to millions, might be sure to have a happy and successful married life, free from the trials that have ruined the lives of so many in her own social set, one wealthy and wise matron hit on the happy plan of drawing up a life-bound agreement which the prospective groom would have to sign. Little Siva's husband had to agree to live up to a remarkable program mapped out for him. Full details of this proposed solution of the marital problem will be found in the magazine section of next Sunday's

A Lady in England
Hanson's Bolshevist Remedy
Rockefeller's Is Better
The American ROSIERE.

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919.)

Lady Astor, interesting American, whose enormously rich young husband was made an Englishman by his father, is running for a seat in the House of Commons.

Her husband inheriting the peerage that his father bought and paid for with "good deeds" moves up into the House of Lords. His wife is trying for the seat in the House that he is compelled to leave vacant.

This invasion of old England by young Americans, buried abroad by inherited wealth, is interesting to us, rather irritating to some of the English. It may be the beginning of new conditions there.

But it isn't the yellow flag that cures small-pox. You have to go deeper and farther back than that, find out what caused the eruption and fight it intelligently. Red lanterns or red flags, posted as a warning, will not cure Bolshevism.

The human race is not divided into mad dogs labelled "Bolshevist" and angels labelled "conservative." Bolshevists, I. W. W.'s etc., when they number hundreds of thousands, are dissatisfied men and women to whom the world has not given comfort and peace of mind, or whose distorted minds take a false view of life.

This world, this country especially, can supply comfort and peace of mind for all, if the powerful choose to have it so, and if they will think as much about the happiness of their fellow men as they think about the comfort and health of their pet dogs and horses.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is not exactly a Bolshevist or an I. W. W. But he proposed a remedy better than that of Mr. Hanson when he said that workmen wanted to be human beings, not "mere hands" going through life with a number instead of a name.

They didn't cure immorality in New England by pinning a scarlet "A" on the breast of the guilty woman. They didn't cure small-pox in the Sandwich Islands, although they tried to by scraping miserable victims with sharp sea shells to get rid of the virus.

They didn't perpetuate slavery in the South by their laws making it a crime to teach a negro to read.

When you have trouble, find out what the trouble is, then remove it. You can't cure a malady by saying to him thrice a day in morning and evening newspapers "you're a crazy man and ought to be lynched."

An Italian nobleman, having married an American fortune, leaves a fragment of it, the interest thereof to be given to the most worthy, virtuous young lady of marriageable age in his wife's home town.

The young lady must come from "the common people." This will give the mayor of the town who selects a chance to tell us just who the common people are.

It will also give to the United States an imitation of that French institution, La Rosiere.

In French country places young ladies are still selected for exemplary conduct and self control and allowed to march at the head of the procession on the arm of the local magnate, wearing a white dress and white roses to indicate spotlessness. The establishment of such a performance in the United States, if it happens, will be a curious revival of the past.

"Can Germany recover from the blow of defeat, re-establish prosperity, and go forward under the gigantic load that the Allies have put on her back?"

The answer is "yes," if news concerning Germany's workmen be true. "Like workmen almost everywhere in the world, following the war, they started off with a theory that hard work was a mistake; the thing to do was to get more money, shorter hours, but carefully to refrain from working for it. The latest news is that they have decided to work, and as a contribution to their nation's salvation, to work overtime, regularly, on a proper basis of compensation.

If they do that, and if workmen and competing nations stick to the theory that prosperity is to be had by getting high pay without working for it, Germany will soon come to the front.

No load of debt will keep down a man or a nation that really works.

No amount of apparent prosperity will save from ruin the man or nation failing to understand in the long run that all one man can get is what some other man produces in a day's work. If each works half a day, each will get half a day's production.
